BATTLESHIP TEXAS RAMS FREIGHTER!

SIDE STREET TRAFFIC TO BE HALTED

That Is Civics Committee's Proposal Given Council For Consideration

PASSAGE of an ordinance compelling auto drivers to come to a full stop before entering the main highways and boulevards of the city is to be asked of the Glendale City Council by the civics committee representing the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

This decision was reached at the weekly meeting of the directors last night, following a discussion that showed a decided difference of opinion among some of the directors. It was claimed by those supporting the proposed ordinance that it would tend to expedite traffic and eliminate the danger of accidents.

Consider Waxworks

A committee was appointed to meet with Earl Gandy, a representative of Madame Tussaud's Waxworks exhibition, of London, who has submitted to the board the plans that his firm has prepared for the installation of a duplicate of the famous collection in southern California. He states that it has been decided to locate in this region, but the present owner of Madame Tussaud's Waxworks does not favor the idea of locating in any large metropolitan center and would prefer to establish the collection in some smaller city than Los Angeles.

W. L. Twining, chairman of the advertising committee, reported on the work that has been accomplished by his committee since the start of the advertising campaign that is now, he declares, showing concrete results in the number of people it is bringing to Glendale. He stated that his own firm of Twining & Myers has already located six families in Glendale who have been drawn here by this means, and he stated that other realty men are reporting similar results.

Finances Necessary

Mr. Twining declared that it would be necessary to secure a steady flow of money to the service fund of the organization if the advertising campaign is to be carried out to its logical conclusion.

The probability of the early appointment of a city planning commission by the City Council was told by L. H. Wilson, chairman of the committee that has been appointed to confer with the council on this subject.

Chinese Raiders Slay Passengers and Ship's Crew

SHANGHAI, Sept. 12.—Forty Chinese passengers, the captain, first officer, and two engineers of the Japanese steamer Ichang Maru were killed when Chinese troops raided that vessel near Peichow, on the Yangtse river.

Peichow is on the border between the Chinese provinces of Kiangsu and Shantung.

Chinese bandits have been especially active in Shantung. Their activities reached a climax with the train kidnaping incident of last May when several foreigners were captured and held for ransom.

GEORGIA PEACHES TO VAMP 'VETS'

Southeastern State Sending Prettiest Proselyters Here for Heroes

In line with numerous delegations of eastern propagandists invading the west this fall, a number of pretty Georgia "peaches" will hold forth in October at the national convention of the American Legion in San Francisco.

Mrs. E. Rumble, who with her husband came to Glendale three years ago, locating at 111 North Central avenue, has brought to The Evening News office a clipping from a Columbus, Ga., paper, telling how the Empire state of the south is planning to have a Georgia booth at the convention, built in the shape of a peach, from which two native peaches (the most beautiful to be found!) will distribute 100,000 pieces of literature whose slogan will be, "Come to Georgia, Veteran."

Chance to Advertise

The movement, Mrs. Rumble states, is in charge of State Commander Edgar B. Dunlap of the American Legion, who sees an excellent opportunity to put Georgia before a large number of Legionnaires.

It was announced a few days back that a delegation from Portland, Maine, was on the way to Portland, Ore., via Los Angeles and San Francisco, singing the praises of the Pine Tree state. As the fear was then expressed, so it is repeated, instead of these delegations selling westerners on the east, are not they in greater danger of losing their hearts to the west?

What could be sweeter than a Georgia peach transplanted to the rich soil of California, with a gallant young Native Son to "love, honor and protect"?

Consul's Beautiful Daughter Describes Death Scene In Flaming Tokio

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service

OSAKA, Sept. 12.—With her brown eyes lighting exquisitely, beautiful Maria Luisa Delcorril, daughter of the Argentine minister to Japan, today told International News Service the dramatic story of her narrow escape from death in the Yokohama earthquake.

Maria Luisa, together with her father and mother, was entombed for five days and nights with hardly any food or water when the Yokohama station collapsed over them on that fateful first of September when Japan was visited by the worst earthquake, tidal wave and fire disaster of all history.

Five Days Before Rescue

The girl, who is a rare beauty, with features resembling a delicate cameo sculpture, is one of the most popular young women of the diplomatic set at Tokio. Her loveliness is known throughout Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Delcorril and their daughter reached a relief ship in the bay of Tokio after five days of living horror, buried underneath a huge mountain of debris, with suffocation, starvation and fearful torture added to their misery.

With tears in her eyes at times, Maria Luisa told the following story today:

Recalls Weird Inferno

"With my parents I was waiting on the platform at the Yoko-

Japanese Consul Thanks Red Cross

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Ujiro Oyama, consul-general of Japan in San Francisco, today called at the Pacific division offices of the American Red Crss to express the official thanks of his government and the Japanese people for the immediate and generous way in which the American people have responded to the Red Cross appeal for funds for the relief of the disaster sufferers in Japan.

GLENDALE RAISES $2058.32 RELIEF

Red Cross Here Still Shy Quota for Suffering Japan Says Mrs. Bartlett

A telegram to Pacific division headquarters of the American Red Cross, in San Francisco, sent last night by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter, stated that this city had raised $2,058.32 of the $3,432 quota set.

A number of large subscriptions and hundreds of smaller ones have since come in, futher swelling the total, Mrs. Bartlett states, while most of the business houses are still to be canvassed. The prospect for fulfilling the quota is therefore very good, she feels.

Reports on Drive

A bulletin from Washington, D. C., says:

"The American people have subscribed more than $5,500,000 for relief work in Japan and subscriptions still are pouring in from all parts of the country, national headquarters of the American Red Cross, announced here this afternoon.

"Original quotas were exceeded in the Washington division, including New York, the Central division with headquarters in Chicago and in the New England division."

Those who have not yet subscribed may leave contributions with Mrs. H. E. Bartlett at her home, 333 West Broadway, or mail them there, or they may leave their contributions at any of the banks, in care of the local Red Crss chapter.

List Of Contributions

Contributions have been received among others from the following persons, in addition to those whose names have already been given:

$100—Elks' club of Glendale, Mary E. Chester.

Seismograph Salesman Gets First Hand Information On Earthquakes

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
For International News Service

SHANGHAI, Sept. 12.—Huge funeral processions continue to traverse the stricken zone of Japan as apparently unending supply of ghastly "fuel" keeps on pouring in from all sections of the devastated region.

Fully 97,000 corpses have been cremated in Tokio and Yokohama alone up to the present time, according to semi-official reports reaching Shanghai today.

Forty-seven thousand two hundred dead have been burned in Tokio, while over 50,000 were reduced to ashes in Yokohama.

316,000 Houses Destroyed

By actual count over 316,000 houses were destroyed in Tokio by the terrible earthquake and fire which struck the city on Saturday, September 1, it has been officially announced.

American generosity will have a far-reaching effect in promoting future cordial international relations and in bringing about a real understanding between the two countries, according to Kyoto government officials, who are quoted in dispatches reaching Shanghai today.

Harrowing stories of narrow escapes from death and injury in the fearful earthquake and fire disaster of Japan continue to be told by numberless refugees arriving here almost daily from the stricken cities of Tokio and Yokohama.

Mrs. F. R. Carroll, wife of the Tokio representative of the Goodrich Rubber company, and her two children, had a hair-breadth escape from destruction when the Temple Court hotel at Tokio collapsed over their heads, killing and injuring several other guests.

At the very start of the terrific vibration Mrs. Carroll snatched her children, and took refuge in a doorway while the hotel building fell in ruins about them.

After the all-destroying first shock was over Mrs. Carroll and her children dug themselves out of the Temple Court ruins and spent the night in one of the city parks.

Earthquakes His Business

Another refugee who had a miraculous escape is S. R. Murphy of San Francisco, who was a guest at the Imperial hotel in Tokio when the Japanese capital was shaken to its doom. He is a salesman for seismological equipment for determining earth shocks whereabouts.

Commenting on his experiences through the fearful disaster, Murphy said:

"The shock was terrific. In an instant everything began to collapse and fall with a racket that could be heard for miles around. How I pulled through alive is more than I can understand, for the Imperial hotel came down like a thousand tons of brick. Through some divine fate I wasn't hurt at all by any of the falling wreckage even though I was virtually buried in a mountain of debris.

"The panic and confusion were simply beyond description. Along the route from Tokio to Yokohama I saw thousands and thousands of fleeing refugees. Many fatally injured people were dying by the wayside."

1570 ENROLL AT G.U.H.S. FIRST DAY

Every Indication 2000 Pupils Will Be Present This Term As More Apply

Glendale Union high school's enrollment yesterday totaled 1,570—with scores of new students today stampeding the registration office and indications that they will be followed by a steady stream of pupils for several weeks. Before the end of the fall term, as predicted, the enrollment is expected to reach the 2,000 mark.

Exactly 218 new upper class students enrolled yesterday. These come from families which have moved into the district since the opening of the last semester in January. Many of them have located here since the close of school in June.

The freshman class numbers more than 500 already, with indications that it will be much larger before the month is over. The combined enrollment of the two lower classes is 987 and the combined enrollment of the two upper classes is 583.

More Girls Than Boys

Ninety more girls than boys registered yesterday. By sexes the enrollment was: Girls, 830; boys, 740.

Regular classes are in session today with the juniors and seniors in attendance in the morning and the freshmen and sophomores in attendance in the afternoon.

Department heads yesterday submitted written reports as to the number of pupils in each class. These show a much heavier demand for history than previously anticipated and the formation of several new classes will be necessary. Language and mathematics classes are full also.

Distribute Text Books

"Things are working very smoothly," explained Principal George U. Moyse this morning.

Text books, which are furnished by the district, are being distributed under the direction of Irving H. Oliver, business manager. Within a day or two he will begin the assignment of lockers. Although it is not believed desirable to allot more than two students to a locker, it is expected that this will be necessary in a number of cases.

Nine High Boys Hurt When Auto Overturns

An automobile accident involving nine local high school boys occurred late yesterday afternoon in Eagle Rock.

As a result, Harry Chasse, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Chasse of 619 North Orange street, has a broken right arm in a plaster cast and will not be able to enter school for several weeks. His eight companions all received bruises.

While waiting for an opportunity to register at the high school yesterday afternoon, the boys decided to take a ride in a machine belonging to Cecil Pereira, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pereira of 621 North Orange street.

While traversing Hill drive, Eagle Rock, a tire blew out. This caused the brakes to lock upon the wheels and the car turned over.

Other boys involved in the accident were Don Whitaker, Herbert Wheeler, Jack Winger, Lestale Newberry, Craig Leitch, Charles Flynn and Frank Thompson.

A. L. GREENLAW IS CALLED BY DEATH

End Comes Suddenly to Aged Clergyman and Author at Glendale Home

The death of Asbury L. Greenlaw occurred at his home at 421 West Maple street, Glendale, at 3:40 o'clock this morning, Wednesday, September 12, 1923.

Mr. Greenlaw, a familiar figure in the life of Glendale, was born in Charlotte, Maine, October 28, 1848, his parents moving to New York shortly after his birth. In 1867 he moved to Illinois and was ordained a minister in 1871, preaching at Cobden, Effingham, Brighton Else, Kane and Murphysboro, Ill., being later transferred to Nebraska, where he held a charge near Kearner and another later at Bloomington. Returning to Illinois he carried on his church work at Lawrenceville, which was his last charge, as his health failed and he returned to his old home at Flora, Ill., in 1896.

During all of his life Mr. Greenlaw was a student who kept in touch with the world's progress, and his researches led him, in 1917, to publish a book entitled "Resident Forces of Life", which has had wide circulation.

Death Halts Celebration

Had Mr. Greenlaw lived for one more day he would have celebrated the fifty-third anniversary of his wedding to Helen Harding at Joliet, Ill., and it was a bitter disappointment to his friends that his death caused the cancellation of the simple celebration that had been planned.

Mr. Greenlaw moved to Glendale on April 4, 1922, and besides his widow, he is survived by three sons, Robert N. Greenlaw, 621 North Geneva street, Glendale; John A. Greenlaw, Des Moines, Iowa, Paul H. Greenlaw, St. Louis, Mo.; and three daughters, Edith, Mary and Grace Greenlaw, all of whom live in Glendale.

End Comes Quickly

For many years Mr. Greenlaw had suffered from a form of heart disease, but he was around town in usual health yesterday. Early this morning he complained of difficulty in breathing, and before it was realized that the end was near, he passed away.

Plans for the funeral, which is being cared for by the L. G. Scovern Co., are undecided until word is received from the absent members of the family.

NEW CRASH IN FOG OFF SANTA BARBARA SHORE CRIPPLES STEEL SEAFARER

Latest Wreck Within Fourteen Miles Of Seven Ill-Fated Destroyers As Heavy Seas Take Toll From Shipping

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Plowing through a heavy sea and dense fog, the battleship Texas crashed headlong into the freighter Steel Seafarer off Point Arguello light north of Santa Barbara at 6:55 o'clock this morning, according to word received today at Los Angeles harbor by the Radio Corporation of America. The crash occurred within fourteen miles of the rocks where seven United States destroyers went on the rocks Saturday night and within fifty miles of where the Pacific Mail steamer Cuba also perished on Saturday.

The message from the Steel Seafarer to the local port stated that a large hole had been punctured in her side by the battleship's armored prow. The Texas, her navigators evidently catching sight of the Steel Seafarer only a moment before the crash as she loomed out of the fog, reversed the battleship's powerful engines, narrowly averting a third naval disaster in the same territory within a week. The Texas is believed to have escaped serious injury because of the heavy belt of armor protecting her.

The message from the Steel Seafarer, signed by her master, Captain Fitzsimmons, stated that the freighter, which left Los Angeles harbor Saturday for San Francisco, was proceeding on her way north. Captain Fitzsimmons expected to make San Francisco bay safely if the weather did not grow worse, the message said. Collision mats were placed over the big hole in the Steel Seafarer's side, which had already shipped tons of water, as the seas broke over the opening.

The war vessel was returning to San Pedro after maneuvers in the north and was due at Los Angeles harbor this afternoon. The Steel Seafarer is owned by the Isthmian line.

Seafarer Making Port Under Own Power, Says Radio Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The freighter, Steel Seafarer, which was in collision with the U. S. S. Texas, is en route to San Francisco under her own power, according to a radio message from Captain Fitzsimmons, its master, to Norton, Lilly & Co., agents for the vessel.

The radio message stated that the Steel Seafarer had a hole pierced through the ship's bow above the water line, and that no water had been taken on.

She was en route from Baltimore, Md., to San Francisco, when the crash came. The scene is just a short distance from where seven United States destroyers and one passenger steamer, the Cuba, are pounding to pieces on the jagged rocks at Point Arguello.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—The collision of the battleship Texas on the Pacific cast today is the second accident to the vessel since she was commissioned in 1914, according to naval officials. At the beginning of the world war, the Texas went aground on Long Island, but was not seriously damaged. She later became a part of the allied grand fleet in European waters.

The Texas left San Francisco yesterday with several other warships for San Pedro. She carried a crew of about 1,400 men.

The navy department received its first news of the Point Arguello collision from International News Service.

Hope Of Salvaging Steamship Cuba Has Been Abandoned

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The Pacific Mail liner, Venezuela, docked here today with survivors of the ill-fated liner Cuba, which was wrecked off San Miguel island in Santa Barbara channel last Saturday, shortly before seven United States destroyers were dashed to pieces in the same vicinity.

Hope was abandoned today for preservation of the Pacific Mail steamship Cuba, which went on the rocks off San Miguel island Saturday night, as the powerful tug Peacock sped from New York to undertake the task of salvaging the boat. The Peacock is due to reach the local harbor September 16, and will immediately begin its work.

Hope of saving the ship itself was abandoned today when reports were received that high seas are continually battering the helpless craft, forcing jagged rocks further into her hull. The danger has arisen that the Cuba will break in two and sink.

Evening News Will Be First With Fight Results Friday, Announcers to Give Bulletins

FULL leased wire bulletin service of the Dempsey-Firpo world's heavyweight championship fight in New York will be given by announcers in front of The Glendale Evening News office Friday afternoon, beginning shortly after 4 o'clock.

The International News Service leased wire will be kept open in the office of The Evening News and as fast as the transcontinental telegraph can carry the message the people of Glendale will be given the news first.

By 4 o'clock it is expected the preliminaries will be running while by 5:30 Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Leo Gates will be in the midst of their 12 round battle.

Dempsey, the champion, and Firpo, the challenger, are scheduled to enter the ring at 10 o'clock sharp, eastern daylight saving time, which is 6 p. m. in Glendale. Their fight probably will be but a matter of minutes.

From the street in front of The Glendale Evening News office you will be able to get the fight results first and be home for dinner.

The Glendale Evening News leased wire will have a direct "hook up" with the Polo Grounds in New York. It will not be a part of a "pony" circuit out of Los Angeles.

It will be the same service as received by the Los Angeles Evening Herald, Los Angeles Examiner and other metropolitan dailies.

Naturally, it will be first, with Damon Runyon, Davis J. Walsh, Max Kase, "Tad" Arthur Strewe and other experts at the ringside. Announcers using megaphones and a corps of telephone operators will give out the news at The Glendale Evening News office.

Glendale fight fans will be at The Evening News office, 139 South Brand boulevard, Friday at 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. to get the latest first.

Settle Final Details For School Opening

Routine matters, preparatory to the opening of the grammar school system Monday, were discussed last night in its office at 107½ South Brand boulevard by the Board of Education.

The enrollment of pupils residing outside the local school district was approved in necessary cases—provided the Los Angeles Board of Education agrees to defray the additional cost incurred. It was agreed that the necessity of giving these children an education is more important than the question as to who shall pay the bills.

Three new teachers who were appointed are: Miss Mildred E. Hughey of 409 West Lomita avenue, assistant music supervisor; Miss B. Ida Gunderson of 331 North Isabel street, unassigned; Miss Cymbel Taylor of 1100 East Windsor road, part-time home economics.

Forty eight-day Seth-Thomas clocks with twelve-inch dials in octagonal oak finished cases were ordered from L. E. Dail of 136 North Brand boulevard. His bid priced the clocks at $10.20 apiece or $408 for the entire number. They will be placed in the new class rooms.

The Ward Photo Company of Los Angeles was given permission to take photographs of all the students in the schools. A small photograph of each pupil and enrollment cards upon which it may be pasted are to be furnished the school system without cost. Parents or students, who desire to purchase copies of the photographs, may do so.

The expenditure of $190 to move a bungalow from the Broadway to the Wilson avenue intermediate school was approved.

LATEST CADILLAC HAS NEW ENGINE

Motor Marks Culmination of Years of Effort By Firm's Engineers

Following the most successful year in its history, coupled with the most satisfactory car it has yet produced, the Cadillac Motor Car company has announced a new type, the V-63, continuing the V-eight principle and embodying more fundamental improvements than any of its previous eight-cylinder cars, according to information received by the Court Motor Co., 235 South Brand boulevard, local agents.

The new engine marks the practical accomplishment of an engineering feat long considered "impossible" by automotive engineers—the inherent balancing of the reciprocating parts of the V-type, eight-cylinder engine. With this inherent balance, the V-63 retains and combines all of the obvious and admitted advantages of the short, rigid crankshaft and crankcase, giving maximum rigidity in the engine structure and economy of chassis space, coupled with hitherto unknown smoothness of operation.

The V-63 engine, with its radical forward steps, has the benefit of the usual conservative Cadillac policy. It is the outgrowth of nine years of persistent effort in developing one definite principle of engine design, and comes particularly as the result of more than two years of exhaustive research and experimentation by Cadillac and General Motors Research Corporation engineers.

A Cadillac system of four-wheel brakes has been developed primarily for the purpose of giving greater safety. It has been installed after a most careful study of the subject both at home and abroad, and includes many new features. Simplicity of design, effectiveness under all conditions, and a need for adjustment much less frequent than in a two-wheel brake system have been the ends attained.

In body lines, the V-63 presents pleasing developments by Cadillac and Fisher designers, with improvements and refinements such as are usually looked for only in the costliest of custom coach work.

The 132-inch wheelbase is continued and the designers have succeeded in giving even more leg room, side room and head room, both in the front and rear compartments.

GRAUMAN GREETS GLENDALE GUESTS

City and Its People Praised In Message Thrown on Theatre Screen

Glendalians who visited Grauman's Egyptian theatre at Hollywood last night to witness the showing of "The Covered Wagon," were flattered and pleased at the greeting to them and the generous tribute to Glendale that was flashed on the screen over the signature of Sid Grauman. The tribute spoke of Glendale as the "proud sister of Los Angeles and Hollywood," and praised the spirit of progress that has brought Glendale to its present front rank position among the cities of the Southland. Glendale's name was also shown in electric lights over the front of the theatre, giving the people of Hollywood a chance to know that Glendale was among those present.

Down in the darkened theatre, all the loyal Glendalians heartily and noisily agreed with all the nice things Sid Grauman said about them, and their applause was so infectious that lots of others in the audience caught the spirit of the thing and gave Glendale and her people a good hand, to stick to the argot of the stage.

Some of Glendale's people made the trip by the Pacific Electric excursion trains, while many others motored over to Hollywood.

Advance predictions of the excellence of the production were more than borne out by the lavishness of the manner in which "The Covered Wagon" was staged, and the audience immediately caught the patriotic motif that ran throughout the picture and the story and that was heightened by the atmosphere that was so skillfully cast around the entire production.

SPORTS

Wanted by Six Teams

Burney Griffin

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 12. — Burney Griffin, a southerner who in his first year in professional baseball is leading the batters and base runners as a member of the Scranton team, is wanted by six teams in the major leagues. The Philadelphia, Cleveland and St. Louis teams of the American league, and St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Boston of the National league have bid for Burney's service.

Griffin was signed by George Stallings, who, with Walter Hapgood owns the Rochester Internationals and the Scranton teams, when he was graduated from Georgia Tech last spring, and he is undoubtedly the best ball player in the New York-Penn league.

Although not very tall, he is a well-built lad and has more speed than many major leaguers, being especially fast in getting down to first base. He bats from the left side of the plate, hits southpaw pitching well and throws with his left hand.

Before he sprained his ankle recently he had been in eighty-five games in which he was at bat 338 times and made 128 hits for an average of .379. Among his hits were twelve doubles, eight triples and three homers. He stole thirty-eight bases and scored seventy-one runs.

Unless some major league team bids high enough to get him he will be sent to the Rochester Internationals at the close of the present New York-Penn season.

The telephone service in Manila is conceded to be the best in the Orient.

EHMKE NEARLY LANDS IN SPORT HALL OF FAME

Howard Ehmke, former Glendale high school boy, came within an inch of winning a niche in baseball's hall of fame—never yet attained by any major league player—when he pitched a full nine-inning game yesterday against Connie Mack's hard-hitting Athletics, allowing but one scratch hit during the entire game.

Only slow fielding deprived Ehmke of the achievement—the trick of twirling two no-hit games in a single season. This mark has been shot at for many years by the stars of the national pastime, but none have thus far realized that ambition.

Ten days ago he turned in his first no-hit game against the St. Louis Browns.

Sport Snaps
by JACK KEENE

When the Giants lost the services of Dave Bancroft on June 28 and Heinie Groh had to jump back into the lineup with a bad leg it was predicted that the blow would be too much for the world champions and that they could not possibly come through their western trip in possession of the lead. But Travis Jackson, a young man who had had only one year's experience in professional baseball before he joined the Giants late in the season of 1922, skipped into the short field and proceeded to make good with a bang.

When the Giants lost the services of Heinie Groh in Cincinnati the other day, with Bancroft recuperating in the White mountains, it was predicted once more that the Giants were in for trouble. But Fred Maguire, a young man who had had no experience in professional baseball before he joined the New Yorks in July of last year, dug a collection of bench splinters out of his trousers, scooted over to second while Frankie Frisch went back to third—and Maguire, too, proceeded to make good with a bang.

In Jackson and Maguire—collegians both—John McGraw has two of the finest looking prospects who have come into the National league in many a day. Jackson is only twenty years old and until last March was a student at Ouachita college at Arkadelphia, Ark. He got his first professional experience with Little Rock in the Southern league last year.

Even before the league season was opened Jackson was wanted by no fewer than five major clubs. His work in exhibitions against big league teams in the spring was so brilliant that McGraw lost no time in rigging up a deal with Kid Elberfield, Jackson's boss down there. The young man reported at the close of the Southern season and worked himself with eclat in the last games played by the Giants.

Jackson is very fast. At college he was a track athlete. He is a splendid fielder and makes a remarkably quick and powerful throw to first without giving Long George Kelly what is known as a dead ball. At the bat Jackson still has a lot to learn.

Maguire for several years was rated as the greatest second baseman among the collegians. He starred at Holy Cross, which has given Joe Dugan, Jack Barry, Bill Ryan, Jigger Statz and other good ball players to the majors, and joined the Giants after his graduation in 1922. Maguire may thank Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers for the opportunity which has come to him to jump into second base with the Giants in the thickest part of the pennant fight.

Early this season McGraw asked for waivers on Maguire. He felt that Freddy needed a lot of work with the bat to make a hitter out of him and wanted to send him out with Waddy MacPhee to Billy Gilbert at Denver. But Robbie declined to waive on the infielder.

So Maguire had to be retained by the Giants and it was Johnny Rawlings who was sent away. Maguire is a ringer for Eddie Collins in looks and action. As a fielder he is a sparkler. While he has not yet mastered the intricacies of hitting big league pitching, he is improving gradually.

Maguire got his chance very much after the manner in which Frisch got his. Frisch, too, was warming the Giant bench in August of 1919, when the Reds, on their way to the pennant, came here for a series of three doubleheaders in a row. Larry Doyle was hurt and Frisch, just out of Fordham, had to jump into the breach. He comported himself with glory and clinched his job then and there.

When insincerity has left its sting sincerity comes into its own.

Johnny Myers Fights Tonight in San Fernando Go

JOHNNY MYERS, battling member of the Glendale fire department, will meet Young Sheller of Anaheim in the semi-windup of a boxing show to be staged in San Fernando tonight.

The fracas starts at 8:30 with four preliminaries and in the main event Sailor Moser of San Pedro will meet George Sherman of Vernon fame.

The San Fernando band will be present to provide music. It is expected quite a contingent of local fight fans will be among those present.

Foreigners Outclassed By Yankee Racqueters

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Invading tennis stars, who started hopefully two days ago to joust for the tennis title of America presented a thin line today when the third round of the national singles championship tournament began at the Germantown Cricket club.

Four foreigners remained and it appeared a conservative prediction that there would be only two tonight when the whanging cry of the racquets is stilled.

Manuel Alonzo, Spain; B. I. C. Norton, South Africa; F. R. Leighton Crawford of England, and Jacques Brugnon, of France, survived. Jean Rene Lacoste, the French school boy, Ian McInes, the young Australian, Pierre Hirsch of France, and Jose Alonzo of Spain, fell yesterday.

Brugnon meets Alonzo and is not likely to be heard from again this year. Norton meets Leon Beekman of New York and undoubtedly will be with us another day if not longer. Crawford draws R. Norris Williams, and England's colors probably will fade from the picture.

FIRPO EN ROUTE TO N. Y. TODAY

South American Contender Will Rest Until He Meets Dempsey

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—Luis Firpo, South America's contender for the world's heavyweight championship, will leave here today for New York where he will rest until time to enter the arena Friday for his championship battle with Jack Dempsey.

Firpo, accompanied by his handlers, will leave on a late afternoon train for New York. His trainers planned on keeping their protege at his work apartment until time to enter the ring.

The South American contender for Jack Dempsey's crown today weighed in at 213 pounds. His trainers expect him to enter the ring at that figure.

Horatio Lavelle, chief trainer is satisfied with the condition of his protege.

Firpo will probably have two Americans in his corner when he makes his bid for the world's title. It is reported that Hughie Grantland McCartne, veteran handler of boxers, will be his chief second.

Firpo has looked anything but a worthy contender in his workouts here. He has been unable to make the showing expected against his sparring partners. He has, however, shown that his right hand carries plenty of power and that when stung he can wade in and swap punches.

ELKS BAND WILL PARADE TUESDAY

Accompanies Glendale and Pasadena Contingent to State Convention

Glendalians will be the first to see the new uniforms of the Elks' band worn in parade, for next Tuesday afternoon before the local delegation boards the Glendale-Pasadena special for Eureka, the band will march from the clubhouse on East Colorado street, north on Brand boulevard to California avenue and then south on Brand boulevard to the Southern Pacific station at the foot of Cerritos avenue.

The special is to leave at 3:20 o'clock, so the band is planning to march from the clubhouse at 1:45 o'clock and give a concert for the home folks before leaving for the north.

Over fifty Glendale Elks will be aboard the special.

Plan Big Benefit

Glendale Elks are busy now making tentative plans for the big benefit affair they are to give Thursday night, November 8, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. This affair was originally planned for September 14, but was postponed because of the state convention activities.

Proceeds from the affair in November will go to the lodge's Christmas fund. Tentative plans are for a high-class entertainment in the auditorium of the clubhouse from 8 till 10 o'clock, and dancing from 10 to 12 o'clock in the ball room.

The government of Uruguay is planning a meat freezing plant to promote the country's live stock industry.

LA CRESCENTA

INSPECT WRECKS OF U. S. WARSHIPS

Crescentans See Destroyer Break in Two As Waves Pound It On Rocks

Mr. and Mrs. James Regan spent the week end at Ventura and other northern points. While up on the coast the Regans saw the wrecks of the United States war vessels, one of them breaking in two under a huge comber, as Mr. and Mrs. Regan were standing on the shore.

Torpedoes, life belts, wreckage of all descriptions littered the beaches, and a corps of navy men were salvaging it.

The travelers report very cold weather up on the coast and exceptionally heavy fogs—in fact near the wrecks the fog was very dense with heavy seas running.

Mrs. Sherwin was called north to Klamath Falls, Oregon, by a telegram announcing the death of her brother's wife, Mrs. Wood of Ontario, Calif. Mr. and Mrs Wood had motored north a few weeks ago for a camping trip and could not return home before Mrs. Wood passed away.

Mrs. Sherwin will attend the funeral, which will be held in the northern state, and expects her brother to return to his home here with her.

Mrs. Sherwin is the mother of Mrs. Townsend of Altura street.

Fire Chief Young quelled a trash fire yesterday, which might have proven serious, but for his prompt attention.

Mrs. Wooley announces she has enlarged her grocery store on Honolulu avenue and put in a fine large meat refrigerator, leasing the butcher shop addition to Mr. Wood, an experienced butcher. Mr. Wood and wife have purchased a lot, intending to make their home here.

Entertains Brother

Miss Shields, who is renting the Fraley house on West Michigan avenue, has had as her house guest, her brother Dr. Shields of Cincinnati, Ohio. Dr. Shields had charge of the American hospital in Mexico City in the pre-revolutionary days, moving to Cincinnati during the uprising. At one time the Shields family owned six hundred acres in this valley, where the Bissell home now stands.

Mr. and Mrs. Litton have returned from a short vacation spent in Big Bear and are glad to be back in La Crescenta.

Dr. Weber is adding another store to his attractive stone block on the corner of Los Angeles and Honolulu avenue. It is not, however, as large as the other stores. The Benito brick block is also going along nicely and will be a great addition to the business district at the corner of Montrose and Los Angeles avenues.

Make Boulevards Safe Is Plan Now Before City Council

Angeles Chamber of Commerce asked that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce take steps to send a representative on the excursion that is to sail for Hawaii on November 3.

To Aid Red Cross

A committee was appointed to co-operate with the Red Cross in raising the balance of Glendale's quota for the relief of the Japanese.

A card from Mrs. W. G. Harding expressed her appreciation of the messages of condolence sent by the Chamber of Commerce at the time of the late President Harding's death.

Captain Richmond P. Hobson yesterday submitted details of his plans for securing the co-operation of every family in the Southland for the work of the International Narcotic Educational association, and when these plans were reported to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night they arrived at a tentative decision to invite Captain Hobson to speak before the board at an early date, possibly next Tuesday.

Several routine matters were disposed of, as well as a large amount of correspondence.

Newspaperman Held on Hawaiian Libel Charge

HONOLULU, Sept. 12.—Willard K. Bassett, secretary to the mayor of Honolulu, and former Pacific coast newspaper man, today was charged with criminal libel in a warrant secured here by the city and county attorney's office from the local district court.

The warrant quotes from an article alleged to have been written by Bassett and printed in The New Freedom, a Honolulu weekly, which charged local sugar planters with the murder of Francis Wright, a Honolulu citizen, on the grounds that the planters were responsible for bringing large numbers of Filipinos to Hawaii, among whom were the gangsters implicated in the Wright murder.

Bassett has resigned his secretaryship.

SANTA MONICA IS ELK PIN LEADER

Their Team Won 2 Games Here Last Night From Long Beach Quintet

The Long Beach Elks and the Santa Monica Elks, who were tied for the leadership in the Elks league, came to the Glendale Recreation Center's alleys to decide which team should be the leader. Each team brought a good bunch of rooters that occupied all available space, chairs being put on the alley to take care of the crowd, horns, bells and rattlers being used to encourage the players.

The match was rolled with the understanding that the team that won two games in three should be the winner, but only two games were played. The Santa Monica Elks had an easy time winning the first game, but the second was very interesting, the Santa Monica boys winning by eight pins.

THE FANNING BEE HIVE

By NORMAN E. BROWN

JOHNNY DUNDEE.

Was born in Italy.

But New York claims him as virtually a native son. He fought his way to fame and the featherweight title in the metropolis and that city's proud of him. It numbers him among its own many champs.

Pancho Villa, Filipino lad and flyweight champion of the world comes under the same category. As far as New York is concerned he's another "home boy." Mickey Walker, welter king, hails from Elizabeth, N. J., but he's a product of New York. Jack Dempsey first sprung to light in the Big Town.

Benny Leonard, lightweight king; Joe Lynch, bantam champ, and Johnny Wilson, middle king, are all real New Yorkers.

Gene Tunney, U. S. light heavyweight king, and Frankie Genero, American flyweight champ, are too.

Mike McTigue, world's light heavy king, is also claimed by Gotham. Not much left for the other towns in this broad U. S. to claim, apparently.

Cy Williams In Lead In Home Run Title

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Cy Williams, Philadelphia outfielder, shot into the lead for home run honors yesterday afternoon when he made two circuit smashes in the seventh and eighth innings of today's game with Brooklyn. This made Williams' total thirty-seven, two more than Babe Ruth.

PAPYRUS RUNS SECOND

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Papyrus, the Derby winner who will race America's premier three-year-old in America next month ran second in the St. Leger this afternoon. Tranquil won the race and Teresina ran third.

Force used scientifically is power, otherwise it is thoughtless brutality.

Football Practice Already Started At Glendale High

PLANS for a successful football season this year at Glendale Union High school were well under way today.

Suits were issued to twenty players Tuesday morning, with freshman and sophomore material showing up equally well in the afternoon.

Practice was started yesterday and Coach N. C. Hayhurst was well pleased with the prospects.

The schedule has not yet been arranged completely, but it is expected that the league games will start about the middle of October, with a few practice games before that.

Portland Sells Two Players to Brooklyn

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—The biggest baseball deal involving Pacific Coast league players this season was announced today in the sale by the Portland baseball club of Byron "Rube" Yarrison, pitcher, and Johnny Jones, shortstop, to the Brooklyn Nationals. The sale is said to be an outright cash transaction, although the amount was not made known.

Yarrison came to Portland through the New York Giants from the Philadelphia Athletics in the deal which sent Pitcher "Rube" Walberg to the majors. He pitched well here last year and this season is among the leading hurlers. Jones came to the Beavers this spring from Toronto in exchange for O'Rourke who refused to report.

Shipments of Melons From Turlock, Heavy

TURLOCK, Sept. 12.—Shipments of melons are continuing at about the same rate here, from thirty to forty cars being sent out every day. Turlock is having one of the most successful seasons in years. Prices have been good, markets splendid, and this year has been like old times when the shipments lasted for about three months.

Approximately 1600 cars of cantaloupes have left the district and about 400 cars of casabas and honey dews have been shipped.

TAGGING THE BASES

In another batting spree the Giants whipped the Braves, 10 to 0, and maintained their lead of five games over the Pirates.

The Pirates clinched their hold on second place when they again defeated the Reds, 4 to 3, errors being responsible for the defeat.

Ehmke, who twirled a no-hit game last week against the Athletics, held the Yanks to one hit and Boston won, 3 to 0.

Cy Williams crashed out two homers bringing his total to 37. The Phillies treated the Dodgers roughly, winning 11 to 30.

Eight Scouts Going to Big Conference

E. Keneipp, scout executive, president council.

Each group of four boys will have an adult leader or councillor, who will be fully responsible for his boys during the progress of the conference. All delegates, including leaders, will live at camp during the three-day period.

Program Is Given

Following is the conference program:

The general theme will be "Opportunity."

Friday, September 25—Big swim; dinner with Santa Barbara business and luncheon clubs as guests; inspirational address.

Saturday, September 29—Conference topics, "The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His Home," "The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His School," "The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His Community."

Sunday, September 30—"The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His Church." (Taking up the place of the church in the life of a good American citizen—the twelfth scout law and its meaning—the church as a place for making real friendships.)

OLDEST FRAME HOUSE

The old Quaker meeting house at Easton, Md., is again to the front as the oldest frame building in America, built in 1684. Wm. Penn attended service in it. Whitewash is the only preservative ever used on it.

When the swift current of adversity carries you under, the tide of optimism will wash you safely to shore.

"The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His School," "The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His Community."

Sunday, September 30—"The Older Fellows' Opportunity in His Church." (Taking up the place of the church in the life of a good American citizen—the twelfth scout law and its meaning—the church as a place for making real friendships.)

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Tom Mix, assisted by his almost human horse, "Tony," will be seen tonight in "The Lone Star Ranger," the first release of the 1924 series of William Fox feature productions. The film is now playing in Los Angeles and Manager W. A. Howe is sure that the Glendale favorite will attract a record crowd during the special Fox week run.

"The Lone Star Ranger" is a picture adaptation of Zane Grey's great romance of the Texas plains and it is done by possibly the only western star who could qualify for the ranger's role—Tom Mix. And the fact it is daring Tom's latest adds that thrill for the picture fans.

In addition there will be usual mid-week news reel of latest world events, while Paul Carson will provide the pictures with the usual splendid organ accompaniment.

THE GATEWAY

"Divorce," featuring Jane Novak and John Bowers, will show at the Gateway Theatre tonight only. This dramatic picture, said to be one of the most intense of recent months, is true to life, full of heart interest and touches with a firm hand an eternal question and one that is particularly vital today.

It is a groping, searching picture, raising questions that compel answers. No one can see "Divorce" without being forced to face certain issues squarely.

In addition, tonight's bill at the Gateway Theatre includes a full program of good vaudeville, comprising several singing and dancing acts, together with novelties that will please young and old alike.

Napoleon's Centenary Reveals 3 Survivors

The centenary of the death of Napoleon was widely observed in various parts of the world. Paris made it the occasion of a high requiem mass, celebrated by Cardinal Dubois in Notre Dame, and the Abbe Hennocque, a war veteran with the rosette of an officer of the Legion of Honor and a war cross with a dozen stars, meaning citations for bravery, preached a sermon eulogizing Napoleon's services to the French nation and its youth. Banners of famous Napoleonic regiments, taken from their shrine in the Hotel des Invalides, were paraded in a great military review at the Arc de Triomphe. Ajaccio, in Corsica—Napoleon's birthplace — Warsaw, Waterloo, Brussels, associated—with his triumphs or defeats—had celebrations of their own, and at St. Helena, where he passed his last period of exile and where he died, a British battery fired a salvo of 100 guns at the hour of Napoleon's death, 100 years before. From the town of Jamestown on that island came the interesting report that three witnesses of Napoleon's exile still live—two tortoises that have reached the age of 170 years, and a gray parrot, which, though 120 years old, still repeats the name "General Bonaparte."

REHABILITATION STARTS IN JAPAN

Special Department to Take Charge of Rebuilding Ruined Cities

HONOLULU, Sept. 12.—The Hawaii Shinpo has received from its Tokio correspondent at Sendai, a press message stating that several thousand Japanese perished by cremation in a military clothing factory at Iwabuchi, near Tokio in the devastating fire that swept htat part of empire 10 days ago.

A new department in the government has been created—rehabilitation — according to the Shinpo's correspondent. The added governmental agency will assume full charge of reconstruction work.

Eleven emergency hospitals have been created in Tokio, the dispatch said, in which 200,000 more or less seriously injured are receiving medical attention.

Hirohito, prince regent, is living in a tent on the grounds of the detached imperial palace at Asasuaka, according to the correspondent, and sharing the regular food, consisting mostly of unpolished rice, with the great army of refugees encamped there.

RESISTANCE ENDS IN RUHR DISTRICT

French Feel They Achieve Victory in Succeeding With Program

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
Copyright, 1923

DUSSELDORF, Sept. 12.—German passive resistance in the Ruhr has entered its last phase, General Degouette, the French commander, told International News Service in another exclusive interview.

"There is no longer any real heart and swing in it.

"The Germans have been cooking their own goose—cutting their own throats. The cost of this resistance has been ruining German finances. The longer passive resistance lasts, the more difficult it will be for German industry to resume.

"When we came into the Ruhr I did not think the Germans would keep up resistance this long. I thought the German industrialists were too intelligent to pursue this suicidal policy.

Proves Boomerang

"This resistance will prove a terrible boomerang to them. It is a weapon the workers will use against their employers just as quickly as they did against us.

"Nothing is so dangerous as to get the workers accustomed to earning huge wages while idling away their time. The German policy of paying the Ruhr workers preposterous wages for doing nothing will take awful vengeance when industries resume operation."

The correspondent asked the general if he believed indirect negotiations were already under way between Germany, France and Belgium.

"I do not know but I think it is most unlikely because the French government has repeatedly made known that it will listen only to concrete proposals," replied the French commander. "Such proposals have not been made up to date so far as I know."

Asked what he thought of the conciliatory speeches Chancellor Stresemann has been making, General Degouette answered:

"Chancellor Stresemann's tone is better than that used by former Chancellor Cuno, but speeches have no diplomatic value. They cannot be regarded as direct proposals. One does not make peace treaties with speeches."

General Degouette was next asked if he was satisfied with the results of Franco-Belgium occupation. He answered:

"As I told the American public through International News Service early this year, I never doubted the success of occupation. Tranquility prevails throughout the Ruhr. The mood of the population is sullen, but not ugly or provocatory as it was the first few months. We are carrying out our program without haste. Just now we are taking measures to safeguard coal production, even if passive resistance by the Germans should continue."

IDENTIFY BANDIT

OAKLAND, Sept. 12.—Robert Dean, captured in Stockton several days ago following three weeks of freedom from the county jail here from which he made a sensational escape, was today identified as one of the bandit gang who held up a Western Pacific train near Stockton a week ago.

K. P. MEMBERS TO HOLD CEREMONIAL

Constitution Day Pageant to Be Presented at Lodpe On September 18

Members of the Glendale Knights of Pythias lodge, No. 331, are planning a dual celebration to be held at the lodge rooms at the corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue on Tuesday, September 18, when Constiution Day exercises will be held and the Pythian Sisters of La Halla Temple, No. 122, will be honored.

An elaborate banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m., to be followed by the ceremonial exercises. The program includes the invocation by Rev. Harley Preston; the presentation of a flag to the Boy Scouts' troop that is sponsored by the lodge, with the salute to the flag and the pledge of allegiance, a salute by the bugle band of the Boy Scouts, and the rendering of the national anthem and "America."

Read Constitution

James A. Spence will read the Constitution of the United States, and an address on "Pythian Knighthood and Our Pythian Sisters" will form the theme of an address by J. W. Hibbard, to which response will be made by Mrs. S. V. Joliffe, Most Excellent Chief of the Pythian Sisters.

The banquet will be served at tables arranged in triangular shape and the colors of the order will be used in all the decorations, which are being arranged by C. A. Valentine. During the evening the following musical program will be presented: Piano solo, Miss Van Court; saxophone solo, Miss Adeline Woodberry, "Fleeting Hour;" vocal solo, Mrs. Van Court, "Son o' Mine;" violin solo, Director A. M. Kelly, "Largo;" vocal solo, F. S. Black, "For You Alone;" surprise number, vocal solo, by "Miss Glendale," "Garden of Roses," accompanied by Kelly's Shrine Orchestra and Adeline Woodberry on the saxophone; piano duet, Mrs. F. J. Willett and Mrs. E. Fenster.

Committee Heads

Those directing the various parts of the celebration are E. S. Melzer, chancellor commander, in general charge; Attorney G. H. King, entertainment; S. H. Holmes, serving the banquet; Ray Rehberg, preparing the banquet; E. H. R. Graham, punch, and C. A. Valentine, decorations.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Kelly's Shrine orchestra of seven pieces. Cards and dancing will also furnish amusement for the members and their guests.

Postcard Traffic in Europe Is Reduced

Report comes from Europe that the postcard trade, once the livelihood of so many thousands of men and women, is dead. The blame is put upon the great increase in postage and the embarrassments now connected with European travel. In 1913 the French postoffice took in 70,000,000 francs from those who used to mail postcards to the friends at home, and in the same year Germany exported picture cards to the value of 84,000,000 marks. Now the bulk of business done in France has decreased 85 per cent and the German export trade has almost been wiped out. The blow has fallen hard on armies of photographers, photo-typists, cartoonists, stationers and peddlers.

Doctors, Barbers Once In Same Profession

As late as the eighteenth century, when George II was on England's throne, the barber and the surgeon were affiliated, and the barber was known as "barber-surgeon." Since 1745, when a statute was passed separating the two, the conception of the barber as a member of a skilled profession has undergone considerable change, although there are many who have acquired more than passing skill as lay experts on diseases of the skin and hair, due to their studying the findings of doctors and other scientists.

P. C. BROWN AND FAMILY RETURN

Closes Out Interests in Fergus Falls, Minn., to Reside Here

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown and their three boys have returned to Glendale, arriving last night, after an absence of three months, during which time they toured the middle west, visiting their former home at Fergus Falls, Minn.

Mr. Brown, who was connected with the Glendale Realty company, 133 North Brand boulevard, reports conditions very poor in the middle west, with practically no real estate turning.

While in Fergus Falls they sold their old home, sacrificing it for one-third its value, in order to get cash with which to invest in Glendale real estate. This was the only house sold there in two years, Mr. Brown reports. Eight other families left Fergus Falls the same week as they did, all bound for Glendale, he said.

See Shelby Fiasco

On the way east they stopped at Shelby, Mont., on July 4, witnessing in that paradise of mud and desolation the great Dempsey-Gibbons fiasco. The trip was made in an Essex, which, according to Mr. Brown, negotiated the roads in the best time of any machine making the run.

When he woke up this morning and saw it drizzling, in relatives' home at Eagle Rock, Mr. Brown rubbed his eyes in consternation, thinking for the momen the was still back in Fergus Falls.

But when he caught a glimpse of a flowering rose-hedge and heard the mocking birds practicing their setting-up exercises, he knew he was once more in "the fastest growing city in America."

Education Dept. New Musical Club Feature

An educational department, with Mrs. Dora L. Gibson as chairman and Mrs. Charles A. Parker as vice-chairman, was formed last night at the meeting of the board of the Glendale Music club at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 727 Kenneth road.

Mrs. Gibson is also chairman of the club's scholarship loan fund, and Mrs. Parker of the music appreciation of operas and oratorios.

In developing the educational department concerts will be held and some of them will be open to the general public.

Another feature to be included in the club organization during the coming year will be a committee whose duties will be securing out-of-town engagements for club artists.

Mrs. Alexander Mitchell represents the club in Community Service activities.

Glendale Boosted on Mexican Trade Trip

Mayor Spencer Robinson sends to The Glendale Evening News a copy of The Morning Tortilla, a daily bulletin published for the benefit of the members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion into Mexico.

One paragraph in the issue of September 9 takes a jab at Mayor Robinson for wanting to annex Los Angeles to Glendale, but admits that, outside of that, he is all right. The mayor adds a footnote stating that Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Herman Nelson and Peter L. Ferry are holding up their own ends as Glendale boosters.

SHOOTS TWO BANDITS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12. — Marshal Ferdinand Christensen shot and seriously wounded two negro bandits near Lodi early this morning after the negroes are alleged to have held up twelve men and three boys on a Southern Pacific freight train. Two other negroes are said to have participated in the holdup and escaped.

RESCUE GIRL'S BODY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—The body of Josephine Machado, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Machado of Walnut Grove, was taken from the Sacramento River near here early today. The child was drowned late yesterday when she fell from a houseboat on which she was playing.

It is just as commendable to earn an honest living with a push cart as with an auto car.

V-63

EXPECT GREAT THINGS in the NEW CADILLAC

Even the superb quality which you have long associated with the name Cadillac is no adequate measure of the merits of the New V-63.

The simple truth is that Cadillac has advanced its own standards and achieved, in this car, heights of quality which are strictly new.

Your attention is directed, particularly, to these three elements:—

The New Cadillac V-Type 90°, 8-cylinder engine — harmonized and balanced by entirely new principles of design to a degree of smoothness unapproached in automotive manufacture.

New Body Styles — destined by their graceful, symmetrical design, distinctive finish and exquisite appointments, to be the center of admiration in any company.

Cadillac 4 Wheel Brakes — a safety factor developed with the care and thoroughness characteristic of Cadillac engineering.

New delights await you also in enhanced dependability, ease of control, riding restfulness and, indeed, in every phase of car performance.

It is entirely logical that Cadillac, pioneer-leader of eight-cylinder manufacture in America, should now raise multi-cylinder practice to an even higher pitch of excellence.

This is exactly what has happened in the New V-63, and Cadillac urges you to approach this fine car with great expectations.

Consul's Daughter in Quake Tells Story

hama station for a train that would take us to Tokio. All of a sudden, without the slightest warning, a horrible shaking of the ground literally threw us off our feet. The whole depot building crashed to the ground. In one moment the whole scene was one weird inferno.

"The shock knocked us onto the railway tracks. The earth kept on vibrating so fiercely that we could hardly stand up. Miraculously neither one of us was struck by any falling wreckage. We managed to crawl to a clear space amid the ruins over us and about us and there remained, trembling with fear as the terrible earthquake continued rocking with what seemed to be unabated violence.

Priests Chant Prayers

"When the earth shocks ceased, we discovered we were prisoners in the desolate ruins of the station building, and that immediate escape was out of the question. In another clearance near us was a group of Buddhist priests who added to the horror of the situation by chanting mournful prayers. They kept this up continually.

"These priests could reach over their wall of ruins and hand us things, but there wasn't a sufficient opening for us all to get together. In this manner they generously shared with us their pitifully meager supply of rough rice and dirty water, which was hardly enough to keep body and soul of one of us together.

Hear Cries of Agony

"Through openings of our fearful tomb we could see the city of Yokohama being devastated by a horrible sheet of flame. Even now I can hear those awful groans and cries of agony that came from all sides.

"My father stood guard over mother and me during the night time, with a revolver in his hand in case vandals should succeed in reaching us through the apparently sky-high ruins.

"After five days of horror I shall never forget, a searching party finally reached us and found us more dead than alive. We were carried to a ship anchored out in the harbor.

Faint in Stretchers

"On the way to the ship we saw hundreds of dead bodies rotting and decaying right in the streets. The scenes were so unnerving and the stench so nauseating that my mother and I fainted in our stretchers.

"It seems almost incredible that such a condition as that which we witnessed in Yokohama should not immediately develop an overwhelming plague of yellow fever and cholera. There will be just such a pestilence breaking out if those rotting corpses are not buried or burned.

"The ship we succeeded in reaching was filled with twelve hundred refugees, the majority of whom were Chinese.

Haunting Memories

"I hate to think we have been through such a ghastly adventure. It will take years before I can talk about it without suffering a nervous breakdown."

Miss Maria Luisa and her mother are in a serious condition at the home of friends here. However, both of them are expected to recover within a few weeks.

Minister Delcorril, in spite of his weakened state, after seeing that his wife and daughter were properly cared for, rushed on to Tokio to investigate the situation there for an official report on the catastrophe to his government.

Hope relegated to pessimism creates a state of discontent.

GRIFFITH PARK IN NEED OF SUPPORT

Hollywood Editor Sponsors L. A. Charter Plank to Assure Funds

The improvement of Griffith park by Los Angeles city is a matter of more or less interest and concern, the great playground lying as it does at the very gates of Glendale.

Regarding the park situation in general, and Griffith park in particular, Judge Harlan Palmer of the Hollywood Daily Citizen says editorially:

"The Los Angeles Park Commission asks the Board of Freeholders to include a provision in the city charter now being framed that would provide for a fixed percentage of the taxes to go to the maintenance of our parks.

Need to Spend Money

"That Los Angeles needs to spend more money on her parks if her place as one of the leading cities of the nation is to be maintained, is generally believed.

"And that the public would willingly vote for a definite sum of tax money for the support of their parks is also generally believed.

We are not doing with our great Griffith Park or other parks as we should be doing, to make it or them of the fullest benefit to the public.

We are today tolerating a system under which the park commissioners are forced to go on their knees before the city council begging for funds with which to do the little that they do today.

"And if one has been before the city council many times one knows that there is nothing he can do that will lay himself open to as many insults as will the asking of the city councilmen to do something.

Such a practice should be stopped.

The taxpayers themselves should tell the park commissioners through the charter how much money they shall be permitted to spend to maintain the parks and increase their usefulness to the public.

"We predict that if the new charter contains a definite provision for the allottment of money for parks the people will be found in favor of it."

Pendroys Present Ultra New Fashions for Fall Wear In Fanciful Style Revue

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

DAME FASHION, in more than forty delightful creations, made her bow yesterday and this afternoon to Glendale maids and matrons who attended the fall opening and fashion revue at the Pendroy department store at South Brand boulevard and Harvard street.

It was a gorgeous and beautifully arranged display, from the store windows artistically arranged as settings for graceful wax figures in colorful fall gowns, to the fashion show presented on the second floor of the store.

Mrs. Pendroy Presents Styles

Mrs. E. C. Pendroy upon her recent return from a shopping tour in the east, hinted of the wealth of beauty in store for milady in the fall fashions, and she has had an opportunity yesterday and today to present creations of this beauty to Glendale women.

Artistic arrangements of huge, brilliant dahlia blooms, bouquets of zenias and asters and the battleship grey woodwork and finishing of the ready-to-wear department combined in an ideal background for the revue.

It was a series of pleasing pictures, with king's blue, midnight blue, niger brown, lilac, smoked gray, dull brick, ashes of roses, orange, cocoa and black the predominating colors, enhanced by touches of other brilliant colors in trimmings and hats.

Costumes Are Perfect

As each model appeared she presented a perfectly costumed figure, the hat, shoes, gloves and fur being chosen to harmonize perfectly with the gown or dress displayed.

The ensemble emphasized the long skirt, long waist effect, panels of various styles, drapes, materials and the scale of colors most popular for fall and winter wear.

Introduced first were the tan-ored dresses and coat dresses, so desirable and becoming for street or business wear.

Poiret twill and broadcloth in midnight blue and niger brown were shown with hats and furs that suited perfectly. With many of the midnight blue dresses touches of king's blue were used effectively in cuff and panel linings.

Some Striking Models

One particularly striking model was a midnight blue poiret twill, in the stylish long line design, with sleeves of sand duvetyn embroidered with blue silk.

Another interesting line shown were the dresses for afternoon of black and midnight blue, black and brown satin, charmeuse and

WIDOW PROSTRATE OVER ACCIDENT

J. F. Pitts Crushed to Death by Elevator in Cotton Mills Plant

Mrs. J. F. Pitts, of 414 South Adams street, widow of J. F. Pitts, an elevator operator in the employ of the Imperial Cotton Mills, Los Angeles, who was crushed to death yesterday, Tuesday, September 11, 1923, by a freight elevator at the plant, has been removed to the home of her brother, Edward Olson, of Hollywood, in a state of prostration, and is in the care of her sister, Mrs. Hopper. Neighbors cared for her until the arrival of her brother and sister at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

It has not been learned just how the accident took place, but it is believed Mr. Pitts slipped as he was entering the freight elevator, being caught between the cage and the well and dragged for a number of feet before assistants were able to shut off the power.

Skull Crushed

Police Surgeon Norman Dorn at the Emergency Hospital, where the dying man was taken, reports that his skull was crushed and his body badly mangled. He died within an hour of the accident, without regaining consciousness.

Neighbors state that Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pitts had recently come from the middle west, where they were prosperous farmers. About four months ago they bought the beautiful home at the above address, which is located at the southeast corner of Adams and Elk streets.

The deceased was said to be about 60 years old. He was in comfortable circumstances and had accepted the position of elevator operator with the Imperial Cotton Mills only as a temporary post, being assured of a better position when certain enlargements in the plant were effected.

The body of Mr. Fitts has been brought to the L. G. Scovern Undertaking parlors in Glendale, where an inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Suit to Test Labor Agency Law Is Filed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12—That the suit of W. W. Payne to restrain the State Labor Commission from enforcing the new state law, fixing the maximum fee for employment agencies at 10 per cent of the applicant's first month's salary, will be made a test case, was indicated today. Attorney General Wegg is defending the constitutionality of the law.

SEASON'S FIRST RAIN BRINGS JOY

Some Fruit and Field Crops Damaged by Weeping of Jupiter Pluvius

The first rain to fall on Glendale in many moons fell here last night and continued this morning, bringing a precipitation that totaled ten one-hundredths of an inch, according to H. E. Bartlett, 333 West Broadway, who keeps an eye on the behavior of the weather in this vicinity. The light showers that spattered the sidewalks and automobiles yesterday morning were responsible for .03 inches of moisture.

Householders and other citizens whose duty it is to see that the front yards are watered every evening heaved a sigh of relief when the first drops began to fall, realizing that they they were going to have a brief respite from their daily toil.

Get Out Umbrellas

The old umbrellas were hastily resurrected from the closets where they had lain since last winter, shaken out and opened carefully to see whether they were still in shape to do duty through another wet spell, and a frantic search was made in many homes for the old "goloshes" that were also started toward the discard last winter.

Last night's rainfall was accompanied by some startling electrical displays at various points of the compass, but no damage is reported from any part of this city. The presence of the lightning, coming right after the eclipse of Monday, kept some of the sinners, who have been tottering on the ragged edge, with their half-formed decision, to lead a better life.

Fruit Gets Wet

Fruit driers in the valleys nearby suffered some losses, it is reported, but ranchers have been crying for water for other crops—and they got it. Sunshine will be required to allay the damage and it is gloomy today with a heavy fog blanketing Southern California with showers in spots.

Anyway, the rain freshened up the place generally and helped the grass in those spots that had been overlooked by the hose wielders.

Haakon Hammer Tells Plan to Fly Over Pole

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Plans for flying over the North pole—a landing, if possible, and making a study of the land which may be there—were discussed in an interview here today by Haakon H. Hammer of Seattle, Wash., returning to his home after a visit to Spitzbergen.

Hammer said he will not attempt the flight unless Roald Amundsen fails in his attempt to reach the pole by airplane. If he undertakes the adventure he will use three all-metal planes, he said, flying with the fleet to a point about 400 miles from the pole, where a base will be established. From there he would hop off in a junker plane capable of eighteen hours' flight.

Hammer has already been within 400 miles of the pole, where he made photographs of vast spaces of country never before explored.

Will Fill Two Posts In Agriculture Dept.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—With two important positions in the department coming vacant in the near future as a result of recent resignations, G. H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture, announced today he will call the state agricultural council together late this week to select successors to the outgoing department chiefs and dispose of other administrative work.

The agricultural council, which is headed by James Mills of Hamilton City, will make appointments to the following offices:

Director of markets, made vacant by resignation of F. N. Bigelow, who leaves office Saturday. This position carries a salary of $5,000 per year.

Director of Plant and Pest Bureau, which will become vacant by reason of the resignation of Lee A. Strong, who will go to the federal horticultural board. The salary of this position is $4,000 per year.

Old Printery to Be Turned Over to State

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—State Printer Frank J. Smith announced today he will turn the old printing office over to the State Board of Control on September 15. The equipment in the new printery will be fully installed by that date, he said.

The old printing office, originally built as a gubernatorial mansion, will be wrecked. It is situated in the capitol grounds.

OWEN BATTALION HEADS FOR HERE

Nephew of Frank Booth Is Bringing Bride to Southern California

When the S. S. Leviathan sails from Southampton, England, October 20, she will have aboard a pair of newlyweds bound for Glendale—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Owen, the former a nephew of Frank Booth of 111 South Kenwood street.

Mr. Owen, who with his bride will arrive in this city about November 1, is a veteran of the British Flying Corps who saw four years of action during the World War. He is a skilled mechanic and will probably take up that line of work here in Glendale.

May Bring Whole Army

Other of Mr. Booth's nephews, likewise members of the British army, will follow Mr. Owen to this city if he reports back the favorable impressions his uncle is certain he will—the object being ultimately to have the whole British army here!

Another of Mr. Booth's nephews, a brother of Norman Owen, was blown to pieces at Vimy Ridge, just one year before the armistice was signed. In England, states Mr. Booth, Armistice Day is called "Fair Day," a day of rejoicing.

Distinguishing Marks

The fighting strain of the Booth family comes clear down from the Roman invasion of England, when the British race was overrun by Romans, Danes and Norwegians. The intermingling of these fine, sturdy races, according to Mr. Booth, afterwards formed the greatest fighting nation of the world's history. Stock from this nation of English-speaking peoples have migrated to all parts of the world, settling America, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and other points.

The red-haired strain indicates the Danes, according to Mr. Booth; the light-haired strain, Scots and Celts; the dark-haired strain, Britons, Romans, Welsh and Irish.

War Against White Plague Saving Lives

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—The state's fight against the white plague, with a resultant lowering of the death rate, has saved a total of 14,469 lives in California during the past seventeen years, it was announced today by the Bureau of Tuberculosis, State Board of Health. Since 1906, it was stated, the tuberculosis death rate has been reduced from 286 to 158 on the basis of 100,000 population.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

MOSCOW, Sept. 12.—The report originating in Berlin that Leon Trotzky, commissar for war, is dead, is not true. "You can see I am alive," Trotzky laughed today.

Man, 60, Makes Living From One-Seventh Acre

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—Irrigation, deep cultivation and fertilization have enabled Paul E. Steude to clear from $1,000 to $1,600 per annum from a lot 40 by 150 feet, for five years, according to a letter received by Governor Richardson.

Steude, who is a widower in the sixties, some five years ago was in failing health and purchased a lot in this city. Today he lives entirely on home-raised products.

The governor is invited to "come out and see how easy it is to make a good living on one-seventh of an acre." Fifteen varieties of fruit are raised on the diminutive farm in addition to vegetables of every description, "hops enough to start a brewery" and tobacco for personal use.

Southwest Strikes Stride in Summer Run of New Construction Work

GLENDALE stands third in the list of southwest cities for August, in building permits issued, with a total of $931,693, which is nearly three times its $394,204 of August a year ago. Cities outside of Los Angeles report a total of $9,097,409, as compared with $6,660,71 for the same period of 1922. Of this total, Glendale's contribution is seen to be over ten per cent. More than $30,000,000 in building is now under way in the Southwest.

The August, 1923, total for the cities including Los Angeles is the second greatest of the year, the high-water mark being set in March, when a total of $33,787,413 was reported by thirty-nine Southern California cities.

Harry C. Leveys See Destroyers on Rocks

Attorney Harry C. Levey of 811 South Glendale reports an unexpected sensation on a week-end motor trip with his family to San Luis Obispo. They were privileged to see the seven United States destroyers on the rocks near Point Honda, the greatest peace time naval catastrophe in the history of the United States.

They also saw automobile wrecks along the coast route, and on Monday the eclipse was quite discernible in the vicinity of Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Levey and daughter Dorothy were the guests Sunday at the Sabrick home in San Luis, one of the quaint coast towns which is rapidly forging to the front with a new million-dollar hotel.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Diet in Disorders of the Skin, No. III

Acne, continued—It is usually found that girls and boys suffering with acne are heavy eaters of candy, rich desserts, greasy and fried foods, and they are often excessive meat eaters. All of these habits, of course, must be stopped, not only to control the acne, but for the safeguarding of the general health.

When I spoke of the digestion of fats, I told you that if there is an imperfect digestion of fats this may irritate the skin. Excess eating for the needs—by causing excess putrefaction in the colon, with the resulting absorption of the putrefactive products — is often manifested in the skin. Tea, coffee, alcohol and nicotine are on the list of things which must be omitted.

Special attention must be given to elimination, so the diet should be such that a good evacuation of the bowels is produced at least once a day, and preferably two or three times. We have an article on constipation which you may have by observing the rules of the column. But please do not forget to address the return envelope yourself or, much as I regret it, we cannot promise to send you the article.

Some of the things which you may do as a home treatment for this condition are:

1—A thorough scrubbing with laundry soap two or three times a week.

2—Steam the face after the scrub, and extract the blackheads with a clean comedome extractor (they are inexpensive)— never with dirty fingers, as that only makes the blackheads worse.

3—Open up the postules (pimples) with a sterilized needle and squeeze out the pus gently. Rough work makes them start up again. Follow this with another scrub and an application of antiseptic to kill off the wandering acne germs, and others. (Strong boric acid solution, two teaspoons to a cup of hot water, is a good antiseptic.) A compress wrung out of this solution can be laid on the face at night, also.

4—Sulphur ointment at night after the scrubbing will help some cases.

5—Sometimes touching the pimples (before pus has formed) once or twice a day with camphophrenique will abort them. Camphor-phrenique is camphor gum and carbolic acid in equal parts; your druggist will put it up for you.

6—Correct diet, good physical exercise every day, the correction of any faulty health habits, combined with the above local treatment—this ought to cure acne.

If it doesn't clear up, a skin specialist had better be consulted. Sometimes X-ray treatments help wonderfully.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The average housekeeper does not appreciate the value of the green sweet pepper on the home table. At this season of the year the pepper is at its best. Let us serve it often. The following recipes are all good:

Eggs in Pepper Cases: Cut the green peppers in two lengthwise, remove seeds and wash well. Place the halves in a saucepan of hot water over the fire and let boil for twenty minutes; this removes the strong taste and partly cooks the vegetable. Then drain well and fill as follows: sprinkle dry bread crumbs in the bottom of each half pepper; add a layer of finely minced cooked ham; season with a little salt and pepper, then break an egg into each pepper case. Place a small piece of butter on top of each egg, and bake the pepper-halves in a moderate oven till the egg-whites are set. Serve at once.

Green Pepper Salad: Cut slices from stem ends of six green peppers and remove seeds. Wash the peppers well, then fill them with the following mixture: Dice the pulp of one large grapefruit and add to it one cupful of finely cut celery and a few English walnut meats broken small Moisten with a little Mayonnaise dressing before putting this mixture into the peppers. Top each filled pepper with a dab of Mayonnaise and chill well before serving.

Unusual Stuffed Baked Peppers: This is a fine dish for children. Boil enough rice to make two cupsfull, cooked. Stew enough fresh, ripe tomatoes to make one-half cupful of thick pulp (or use the more solid parts of canned tomatoes). Moisten the cooked brown rice with this tomato pulp, add two tablespoons of butter, a pinch of pepper, one-half teaspoon of salt and one pint of thick white sauce (made by thickening a pint of sweet milk with two tablespoons of flour and adding one teaspoon of butter). Stuff the pepper-case with this mixture and lay a slice of uncooked bacon over each. Bake for forty minutes in a moderate oven in a pan containing two cups of hot water; every ten minutes baste the peppers with this pan-liquor. Serve hot.

Lamb-Pepper Stew: This is an excellent recipe for serving left-overs from a leg of lamb. Cut the cold lamb into cubes or small chips and warm it in left-over brown gravy; also add strips of green sweet peppers which have been previously seeded and cooked until very tender (about forty minutes of steady boiling). Season with salt and serve on toast.

Two Yankees were in Cook's office at Cannes the other day for the purpose of turning some dollar checks into francs, says the Paris Daily Mail.

"Well," gentlemen," said the clerk, "if you will give me 50 centimes (2-pence) I can cash your checks in full without any small change being necessary."

A Scotchman who overheard the conversation and saw that the tourists were somewhat perplexed, neither of them having 50 centimes at the moment, stepped forward and produced the coin, saying politely:

"Great Britain owes America £900,000,000 and here I find two Americans in want of a little money. Please allow a Scotsman to make a contribution toward the liquidation of our debt."

MIRACLE AGE IS STILL HERE!

Girl Jilts Suitor But Returns His Gems

Miss Irene Wales, who gives back presents when "spat" with her fiance comes

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—At last it has happened. The impossible. A veritable modern miracle.

As might be expected, a former "Follies" girl is the cause of it.

If she hadn't been a former Ziegfeld girl there wouldn't have been anything miraculous about her performance.

Irene Wales—er-er, beg your pardon, Mrs. Lew Leslie—is the girl.

However, when she still was in the "Follies" and before she met Leslie, Miss Wales was the recipient of many valuable gifts from admirers. Most of the "glorified" girls are.

Among these admirers was Frank Auditore, Brooklyn's millionaire stevedore, and one of the best little things Frank did was to shower gifts of jewelry on the lady of his heart.

Then came a spat. Yes, "Follies" girls often quarrel with their sweethearts. And they parted.

Now, according to all established precedents, Auditore stood about as much chance of recovering his lavish gifts, $100,000 worth, as investors in German marks have in getting their dollars back.

In fact, the odds were something like 9001 against him—but here's where the miracle came in.

Miss Wales returned his jewels, every nickel's worth.

Then she strutted to the altar with Lew Leslie, wealthy restaurant owner, and took him for better and for worse.

Timely Views on World Topics

LOWER RAIL RATE DEMAND OF FARMERS MUST BE HEEDED, SAYS FARM BUREAU LEADER

"Among the foremost issues in the coming presidential campaign will be transportation rates. The farmers are going to insist on lower transportation rates, for they are cost factors which enter both into the sale of farm products and into the price which farmers have to pay for the commodities they use or consume." This is the view of Gray Silver, American Farm Bureau Federation leader. He says:

Gray Silver

"The farmers possibly have a keener interest in railroad rates than any other class. This is true because they pay 55 per cent or more of the four billion dollars representing the cost of transportation in this country, and this is a heavy toll on the farmer's pocketbooks. Of the total production of American farm products, twelve to fourteen billion dollars annually, eight to ten billion dollars' worth leave the farm. The question of transportation begins at the farmers' gates. The freight transportation bill is something like four billion dollars, and since the farmers pay a little more than half of this the farmers' railroad bill amounts to about two billion dollars. Around one-fifth of the farmers' gross income goes to the railroads.

Price Fixing Wrong

"As long as there is a discrepancy in the price of manufactured products when compared with agricultural products there will continue to be agitation for arbitrary government price fixing. This probably will not be fostered by members of the farm bloc and those candidates aspiring permanently to better the position of agriculture, for the fixing of prices on agricultural products would prove only a boomerang to the farmers. Should the price of their commodities be fixed and not the price of commodities which they have to buy, the farmers would be greatly out-traded, for their price would be stabilized or fixed, whereas the prices of manufactured products would be increased to meet the desires of the manufacturers, who control their own price fixing.

"Farmers' taxes have increased so greatly during the last few years that the subject of taxation also will be a national issue.

Proper Relation of Tax

"Taxes must be related closely to the ability of the taxed to pay. When placed upon this basis the farmers' tax burden becomes relatively much heavier than that of other classes. In 1922 the ratio of taxation to income for agricultural classes was about 16 per cent. That for the remainder of the country was only about 12 per cent. The farmers pay more in relation to their income than any other class in the United States, yet it is a fact that the farmer has fewer conveniences than the city dweller. Since taxes go for community improvement, it would seem only equitable and just that the ratio of taxation be changed.

"The farmers will continue to be against a sales tax and for a tax on profits and earnings as well as an inheritance tax.

"If the next congress does not accept Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, it is a foregone conclusion that the farmers, keen in their desire for cheap fertilizers, will make the economics involved in the Ford offer a paramount issue. The consumer of agricultural products as well as the producer, when he understands the far-reaching effect of cheaper fertilizers and the adaption of water power for the production of electricity, will join the farmers in this demand."

It is wisdom to know where to begin and where to end.

BEAUTY CHATS

by Edna Kent Forbes

LOOKING TOWARDS PARTIES

The tanned arms and sunburned faces that are so charming today have, at the most, a fortnight's popularity ahead of them. With October, cool breezes, the smart new blue serge frock and, still more important, the try-on of the evening dress, the summertime complexion is a failure. So make your preparations soon for your next winter's skin. I don't in the least mean that you should rush out and buy all sorts of expensive bleaches and lotions, but only that you should consider what your complexion needs to bring it back to a rose-and-white freshness.

Here's a formula for light freckles and sunburn:

Two ounces peroxide.
Two ounces glycerine.
Two ounces witch hazel.

Here's another:

Lemon juice, two ounces.
Powdered borax, one gram.
Powdered sugar, two grams.

If this last formula stings, add a little boiled water. The standard old-fashioned remedies — butter milk, rubbed in and allowed to dry; cucumber juice, used alone or with almond milk or glycerine (but never put glycerine on the skin full strength) and tomato juice—are all good bleaches. Use cold cream, too, every day until the skin is normal. Use before washing and wash out most of it.

Give the arms special attention now, so they'll look well when they are dressed for evening. Bleaches for the face will bleach them too. The elbows, however, will need rubbing with oil and scrubbing with a brush and soap and hot water, and then rubbing again with honey-almond lotion or vanishing cream at bedtime. This treatment will make them soft and white and round looking for winter.

Genevieve F.: Consult the best hair specialist possible concerning the streak of grey hair that is appearing on the head of a girl of fifteen years of age.

June S.: A simple lotion for freckles is made by mixing together in equal parts, witch hazel, peroxide and glycerine. Apply this so it will remain on the skin overnight.

Mrs. J. L.: Colorless lips might result from any number of causes, so no one without a knowledge of the patient's condition could venture any opinion. For the oily skin apply a little witch hazel to the face on the days when the skin has this tendency.

Early preparations for the winter.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married man thirty years old and my wife is twenty-one. We have been married two years. My wife keeps me heart-broken all the time. I have tried several times to make her a home, but she gets a little angry and then leaves and stays two months at a time.

I have furniture for a nice home. I work every day and bring my pay home and give it to my wife, but if I want to step out for an hour or so to see some of my fellow friends she gets angry. I tell her to go when she pleases to see her friends and I go with her and take her places, but she does not want me to do anything. I could do more for her if she would allow me to.

I used to drink. She said that caused all of our trobble, and I quit it. Now things are worse than ever. She says she loves me, but it is doubtful. Please advise me. PUZZLED HUSBAND.

I am afraid you do not get your wife's point of view and cannot see just how serious a matter your former drinking was. There is nothing which causes a wife more anxiety and unhappiness, and no woman can be blamed for leaving her husband when her home life is made miserable because of that.

Since you have been married only two years, I judge that you have not been away from the drink habit for a very long time. Your wife probably loves you as she says, or she would not have returned to you, but she feels nervous about your friends and is afraid that you will be induced to start drinking again.

For a while at least I would advise you to content yourself with your wife as a companion and try to enjoy her friends. She has your interests at heart, I am sure, and feels that if you have your pleasures with her you are not in danger of the drink vice. It is really for your own good that she acts as she does. Try to love her more for her interest in you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my late teens and am in love with a boy a year and a half my senior. When we get together he seems to care a lot for me and tells others that he cares for me, but after we have been together for a few times he seems to tire of me. Then when I go with some one else he wants me back.

He has done this three times now and each time I have left another friend who cares a lot for me and gone back to him. We have gone together about fourteen months and I certainly tried many times to give him up, but when he wants to come back I can't refuse him.

His sister tells me that he cares a lot for me and says that I don't understand him. Please advise me what to do.

ACCOMMODATING LIZZY.

I would not advise you to give up the boy who proves to be such a good friend simply to gratify the jealous whim of the boy you seem to love. There is really no reason why you should not have both boys as friends. Doubtless your faithful friend would be reasonable about your going with his rival, and if the other boy for whom you care so much objects, he should not be considered. He has acted in such a way that he really does not deserve your consideration.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-three years old and I am desperately in love with a young lady two years my junior, but I am timid and cannot get up the courage to ask her to marry me. I think she is interested in me. What do you think would be the best course for me to pursue? WAITING.

A proposal is not as hard as it looks. Simply jump into what you have to say and the worst will be over. Tell the girl you love her and want her to marry you, and then ask her if she loves you and will marry you.

It was the drawing lesson, and a class of youngsters were drawing from memory, recites Judge. They had been told to draw a river, with two figures sitting on the bank, one of whom was fishing. The teacher was going round the class when she came to a boy who had finished his drawing. She looked at his paper and was surprised to find only a river.

"Why, Jack," she said, "where are the two people I told you to draw?"

"Well, you see, Miss Jones," he answered, "I'm not very good at drawing people, so I've put up a notice: 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.'"

TODAY—The "New Woman" in Japan; Niponese Dress Reforms; By Duke N. Parry, Tokio Bureau.

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service

TOKIO (By Mail) — "Understanding the other sex" is not an achievement of the average Japanese gentleman. Years of subjugation have caused the majority of the feminine sex of Japan to recognize their position in relation to the "lords" of their households. But there are those in Tokio's civic and social life who realize that the dawn of a new day is at hand, if not already here, and Mayor Nagata, new chief executive of the capital city of Japan appears to be one of those. Mayor Nagata has held the chief position of prestige in his city's government for only a few months now, he having succeeded Mayor Viscount Goto, who resigned to handle negotiations between the Japanese and the envoys of Soviet Russia. But in one little speech, made before a committee of prominent "new women" of Tokio, Mayor Nagata made a bid for support of the households of Tokio—a bid to the women.

Speaking of his understanding of the gentler sex, Mayor Nagata is quoted as having said to the Women's Municipal Administration Study society: "I admit that I have called my wife 'my stupid wife' before public gatherings; this is merely the following of conventionalities in Japanese life. In reality I do not hesitate to call her the most respected part of myself."

To which the women present are said to have replied, through their chairman: "You are our city father. We do not mean to ask you to do as did your predecessor, Viscount Goto, in giving back all of his salary to the city; but you know as 'our father' it does not seem that it would be asking too much if we suggested that you spare a part of your monthly salary to invite us to dinner every thirty days. In this way we may have an opportunity to see more of you!"

And the mayor is quoted as having said that he would consider such an expenditure of his monthly salary one of the greatest pleasures he could have.

"The way Japanese girls are dressed in the present day does not permit their bodies to grow and become ready for the energetic life which they will shortly be required to live. We must give up the old kimono and adopt a uniform of a more western type"

This was the opinion expressed recently by Mrs. Utako Shimoda, principal of the Jissen Girls' High school, known as one of the foremost Japanese women educators. Mrs. Shimoda entered court life when she was seventeen years old and served the late Empress Shoken, wife of the Emperor Meiji, as Maid of Honor. When Mrs. Shimoda was head of the Women's department of the Peers' school the present empress of Japan and two daughters of the former emperor and empress received education under her. Her present school has 1700 pupils.

"It may seem rather tragic," said Mrs. Shimoda, "that Japanese girls should be asked suddenly to discard what has been their national dress for years. Under the circumstances it is necessary for the Japanese girls to recognize that no custom is so good that it can remain forever unchanged. Customs and traditions are important to us, but the destiny of the Japanese women is more important."

While many of the diplomats of Tokio were away on summer vacations, others, forced to remain in the capital had devised various means of entertainment during the warm months. A cool spot outside of Tokio was selected by some of the members of the Italian Embassy staff and members of the British Consulate staff from Yokohama, and here they had constructed a roller-skating rink, electrically lighted, where they might pass away a few hours each evening, before taking a plunge in a swimming pool nearby.

SPANISH DANCER TO INVADE

'Art For Dollars' Sake' Seems Slogan Now

Raquel Meller, Spanish dancing artist, who plans invasion of United States

MADRID, Sept. 12.—With German marks slightly less than nothing flat, French francs a trifle better and Spanish pesos slightly below par, American dollars loom up like the silver mines of Ophir.

And the famous old phrase "Art for Art's sake," rapidly is being paraphrased into "Art for the Dollar's sake."

Any one in Europe that can think up a reasonable and paying excuse is on his or her way to the United States to grab off any superfluous dollars that may be looking for a trip abroad.

Senorita Raquel Meller, Spanish dancer de luxe, is the latest to decide that for the good of her art she'd rather perform for dollars than pesos.

She's leaving here shortly for an extended American tour.

And with the senorita will go her famous wardrobe which contains scores of costumes reputed to be worth a good sized fortune in any man's money.

Raquel hopes that Americans will donate plenty of good round dollars in the cause of art when she twinkles her dainty toes for their edification and—she expects to be able to buy several wardrobes and half Madrid when she returns.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PINE TREE

Through the forest hopped the bunny rabbit gentleman. The wind was blowing amid the trees, and the sunshine fell on broad, golden patches on the ground.

"It is very beautiful here," said Uncle Wiggily softly.

"It is beautiful for those who have no trouble," a voice seemed to sigh.

"Ha! Who is that?" asked the rabbit gentleman quickly, thinking it might be the Woozie Wolf.

"Don't be afraid," the gentle voice went on. "I am only a pine tree. I could not harm you if I wished, though I am covered with needles. As long as you don't come too close, I will not even brush my needle branches against you. Oh dear!" sighed the pine tree.

"What is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

Perhaps you may think it strange that a rabbit could talk to a pine tree, or even that a pine tree could talk. But have you never heard the wind murmuring in the green pine needles? Well, then, the tree is talking, though not everyone knows what it says.

"Oh, such trouble as I am in!" said the pine tree. "I started to grow up straight and tall, like my brother and sister pine trees in the forest. But alas—a week ago the rain loosened a big rock. It rolled down on me and now is resting against me, pressing me over to one side. I shall grow up as crooked as a ram's horn. And I did, so much, want to be straight!"

"Perhaps I can help you," spoke Uncle Wiggily. He hopped closer to the pine tree, which was waving its branches covered with long, green pine needles. "Ah, yes," went on the bunny. "I can roll away the stone that is pressing you crooked. Then you may grow straight."

Uncle Wiggily with his paws, dug away the earth on one side of the stone. Then the big rock rolled the remainder of the way down the hill, letting the pine tree spring back straight and upright again.

"Thank you!" murmured the pine tree. "Perhaps, Uncle Wiggily, I may be able to do you a favor."

"Do not give yourself any worry about that," said the bunny gentleman politely.

It was a few days after this that Uncle Wiggily was hopping in the same forest, when he chanced to meet Floppy Twistytail, the little piggie boy.

"Hello, Floppy!" called Uncle Wiggily. "Where are you going?"

"I'm not going, Uncle Wiggily, I'm coming!" grunted Floppy with a laugh. "I'm coming from the hollow stump school. And look! I have a new reader book! I'm in a higher class!"

The little piggie boy opened his book to show Uncle Wiggily, but, all of a sudden, a puff of wind blew one of the leaves off of the reading book.

"Oh, what will the Lady Mouse Teacher say when I go to the Hollow Stump School tomorrow with a leaf gone from my book?" squealed Floppy.

"I'll fix it for you!" said Uncle Wiggily. He hopped after the blowing leaf from the book and brought it back.

"How can you make it stick in again?" asked Floppy.

"Hum! Now I wonder," mused Uncle Wiggily.

"If you will take some of my sticky gum you can stick the loose leaf back in the book," murmured a voice. "Take some of my sticky gum."

"Oh, thank you, I will, Pine Tree!" said Uncle Wiggily, for it was the tree the bunny had straightened that was speaking. And with the gum that oozed from the tree, the loose leaf was stuck back in the book.

But no sooner was this done, than out of the woods came rushing the Skillery Scallery Alligator.

"Oh, now I am going to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!" gargled the 'Gator. "How I love ears!"

Poor Uncle Wiggily didn't know what to do, but the pine tree whispered to the piggie boy:

"Take some of my sticky gum, spread it on a log and ask the Alligator to sit down before he nibbles any ears. He'll sit in my sticky gum and he can't get up again."

So the piggie boy slyly spread some sticky gum on a fallen log Then Floppy said:

"Sit down, Mr. Alligator, before you nibble any ears!" So the 'Gator sat down. "Now come on, Uncle Wiggily! We'll run home!" squealed the piggie boy, and away they ran.

"Wait! Wait!" howled the 'Gator. I'm going to nibble your ears!" But when he tried to get up he couldn't, because he was stuck fast to the log by the sticky gum from the pine tree.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. "The tree did me two favors instead of one. Thank you, Pine Tree!"

And if the apple doesn't try to hide in the peach pie so the sugar spoon can't tag it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the thorn bush.

Adventures of Billy Whiskers

By Frances Trego Montgomery

the state buildings at the exposition and were growing pretty tired of them, for there was nothing much in them to interest goats. When they came to the Canadian Home State building, one of the handsomest of all the buildings on the grounds belonging to the separate states and countries, they found a difference, however.

One enters the front door and to the right is a display of stuffed animals native to Canada and the northwest. They are grouped so they look most natural and have none of the wooden look of most stuffed animals, for behind them on the wall is a picture so skillfully painted that one seems to be looking miles and miles over meadows, through valleys, up mountains and across lakes, while in the foreground are seen the animals, like size, which inhabit this region. One cannot detect where the painted rocks and trees begin and where they end, the perspective is so perfect.

On a boulder beside a little pool two large badgers are seen facing each other, but so perfectly are they posed that one thinks they must be alive, while one is sure that some real ones asleep on the straw are stuffed specimens, when lo! the ones you have decided are stuffed get up and slip into the pond while those one thought were real continue to smell one another's noses.

Above them is seen a beautiful white goat with very short legs and very long, curly hair, while down in the valley below is a ferocious looking wolf, showing his teeth and gazing straight at the spectators as if he would like to eat them up for disturbing him, as probably he was contemplating making a bountiful breakfast of the goat.

A little farther on in the same display is a fine specimen of a buffalo and a big moose just coming out of the forest. Over their heads fly birds, suspended on wires one scarcely sees, and at their feet wild ducks are swimming while quail and partridges are feeding contentedly in the wheat stubble farther inland.

On the opposite wall are all kinds of stuffed edible fish that are most used and caught in Canadian waters, from the big sturgeons, salmon, white fish and lake trout to the little fish used for canning. Then on the other side of the building is a wonderful display of apples without a blemish and red as rubies or yellow as ripe quinces; also all kinds of canned fruits and vegetables.

(Tomorrow you will hear what else there was at the Canadian exhibition.)

They met after a lapse of many years, says the Detroit Free Press. The recognition was mutual and their greetings were cordial.

"How lovely to see you again. Why, you've scarcely altered a bit."

"So glad, and you, too, are hardly changed. Let's see; how long is it since we last met?"

"It must be ten years."

"Time flies. And why have you never called to see me?"

"My dear, just look at the weather we've been having!"

"There is no use of trying to improve my husband's mind," said Mrs. Cumrox, with a sigh.

"Why do you despair?"

"I took him to an art museum yesterday. He thought the Venus de Milo was an advertisement for an amateur swimming contest."—Washington Star.

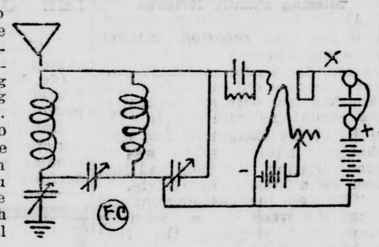
A SET TUNING WITH CONDENSERS

For the beginner who things he could not make all those taps and connections for a variable inductance, the receiving set shown in the drawing will no doubt appeal. This consists of two fixed coils of wire, the size of which depends on the wave lengths you wish to cover, and three variable condensers with an audion and the usual accessories.



With this set the coupling and tuning to various wave lengths is done entirely by the variable condenser. The two coils are fixed and are either placed at least six inches apart or are placed at right angles to one another. The middle variable condenser controls the coupling. This type of set is known as "capacitatively coupled." It is much easier to operate than it is to pronounce the name of it.

The left hand, or first, condenser does the tuning for the various wave lengths, while the third condenser does the fine tuning and helps to cut out interfering signals.

Spider web coils of about eighty turns may be used, or concentrated inductances such as duo-lateral coils, or even wire bound on three-inch cardboard tubes may be used. But whatever type of inductance is used, the coils should be separated so there will not be any inductive effect between them. This is necessary.

In using a three-inch tube it will not be necessary to put so many turns on it for the same wave lengths, for the spider web coils have a small inside diameter. Like all other windings, the number of turns on the primary will depend on your aerial and the wave length you wish to adjust your set to.

As I have advised previously, it is not necessary to mount your set in a cabinet or panel. The best way is to spread your equipment out on a table or other flat surface and hook the parts up that way. Connections, of course, will not be as short as when mounted, but that will not interfere with good operation of your set if you are careful and keep the lead from the grid condenser to the grid short. Also keep the leads from the grid and plate circuit away from each other.

This set can be improved upon by the addition of a plate variometer, which can be connected in the circuit at point X. While this will increase signal strength it will not improve the reproduction of broadcasted programs. Regeneration, when carried too far, distorts signals, and for this reason a non-regenerative set usually gives better reproduction of programs, as the former "spills over" from time to time.

A .001 variable condenser can be used for the first one, and .005's for the other two, although a little experimenting may give better results on individual sets. If condensers are used that have binding posts it is a very simple matter to change them around in the circuit. The coils should be mounted back of the condensers, the three condensers to be placed in the front, or nearest the operator, while the audion socket, rheostat and other material should be placed to the right.

This set will be found as good as any standard set but is more especially for the fan who dreads the thought of making taps and soldering them to contacts. While doing this is not hard by any means there are numerous fans who feel they cannot accomplish it.

Taxpayers Jubilant As Rate Is Reduced

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Los Angeles county taxpayers are elated over the fact that the board of supervisors has reduced the county tax rate 8 cents, by cutting the rate for general county purposes from the 76 cents of last year to 68 cents for the ensuing annual period.

The cut was made possible by the big jump in value of taxable property in Los Angeles county.

A calloused conscience hardens the offender.

POINTERS

Alternating current can be used for filament lighting on amplifying tubes but not on detector.

If your filament rheostat acquires a greenish deposit, clean it off or your set will be noisy.

In winding loose couplers the two coils should be wound in the same direction.

10 Years Ago Today

From the files of The Glendale Evening News

The C. & S. cafeteria opened its doors in this city yesterday morning. This is the first lunch room of this kind ever started in Glendale.

T. J. Fambrough has just started a beautiful new bungalow just east of his home at 1553 Oak street.

The people of the Glendale High school district did their best for the high school on July 22, when they voted $100,000 bonds for improvement on the school property. This improvement is to consist of purchasing the property between Maryland avenue and Brand boulevard and between Fifth and Sixth streets, and constructing new buildings.

The heroism that conquered forest fires of the north and checked the onsweep of prairie fires in the midwest, found a stirring counterpart along the slope of the Verdugo hills yesterday afternoon, when men and women and children battled to save their homes and orchards from a wind-swept, brush-fed wall of fire.

We never relish consequences brought on by our own folly.

Exhausted Quotas to Bar Many Immigrants

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12—Lady Luck has forsaken those residents of Africa, Albania, Fiume and Portugal who planned to make the United States their home. Alfred E. Burnett, chief immigration inspector for the Los Angeles district has received a telegram from Secretary of Labor Davis stating that the quota of immigrants from these countries for September were exhausted the second day of the month.

Also, very few, if any immigrants from Bulgaria, Russia and Turkey will be permitted to enter, the telegram stating that the monthly quota for these countries was practically exhausted.

Fruit Shipments Set Record At Vacaville

VACAVILLE, Sept. 12.—The fruit shipping for the season is drawing to a close, with the exception of prunes. The season has been the largest yet recorded. One thousand six hundred and fifty-three carloads of fruit left by freight, and express shipments bring the total to 1700 carloads.

EAGLE ROCK

CITY'S ZONE MAP ALMOST COMPLETE

Ordinance Passed by Council to Take Effect After Publication

The Eagle Rock zoning map is now practically complete and will soon be posted at the City Hall on East Colorado boulevard for the convenience of local residents and property owners, reports Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The ordinance governing the various zones of this community has been passed by the Los Angeles City Council, after a complete threshing out with the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce, Realty Board and other Eagle Rock organizations, and will go into effect as soon as the period of publication is over, Mr. Montgomery states. This period is of ten days' duration and has not yet begun.

Mr. Montgomery passes on the following information, as a result of a conference with G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles Planning Commission:

In cases where property owners build on the rear of their lots, prior to zoning, with the expectation of building houses on the front later, the Los Angeles ordinance requires a special permit, which is usually granted, but only after investigation.

Those who desire to erect duplexes in front of houses already on the rear of lots will have to petition and request a change to be put in zone B, because authority to erect such dwellings is greater than the Los Angeles ordinance provides.

Local Notes

A permit has been issued for the erection of a $2,000 Sunday school and parish house building on the Congregational church grounds, and work will be undertaken at once.

The Sons of the Revolution urge every civic and patriotic body to join in a fitting observance of Constitution Week, September 16 to 22, in order that this government remain "a government of laws and not of men."

The new fire zone map is now on display at the City Hall on East Colorado boulevard. The map will become effective October 5.

Co-operation of the public in prevention of crime isurged by Sergeant Jud Cornwell of the Eagle Rock squad, who suggests that every time a suspicious character is seen, or a suspicious occurrence takes place, the police department be called by phone, at Garvanza 5380.

Social and Personal

A party of thirty motorists on a tour through the Pacific states stopped off in Eagle Rock last Friday, where they were entertained by Fred Lenney of 271 North Peyton avenue. In the party were Carloss M. Humphrey and L. A. Whiteley of Atlanta, Ga.

C. A. Kirksey is in Texas once more, after spending the summer with his family at 210 East Hill avenue. Mr. Kirksey will remain in Texas until December.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fox of Los Angeles have rented the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Terry at Hill and Windermere avenues. Mr. and Mrs. Terry are living in an apartment for the present.

Miss Ruth Thompson, pianist and composer, has left for the north, where she will remain several weeks, visiting har parents. While there, she plans to give a Sunday concert at the Greek theatre, Berkeley, a structure built along the lines of the Hollywood bowl.

Shortage of Teachers In 153 Rural Schools

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—A total of 153 rural schools in California are without teachers to open the fall term, it was announced today by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

The teachers' shortage is most severe in the San Joaquin valley, Southern California and the mountain districts. Superintendent Wood's announcement follows:

"A shortage of rural school teachers is revealed by reports made by the various county superintendents. The little red school house may be an institution beloved by the people, but it doesn't attract the modern schoolma'am.

Salaries of Traffic Officers Are Held Up

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the State Motor Vehicle Department, has appointed county traffic officers in twenty-six counties, under authority given him by the new motor vehicle law.

There is every indication that the men will not be paid for their work, however, as State Controller Ray L. Riley is still standing pat on his declaration that the legislature make no valid appropriation for their salaries. A test suit will be necessary to straighten the matter out, Riley says.

Builders Here Set Pace Seeing America Swiftly That Prohibition Problem Rebuilding of Japan

By Gil A. Cowan

GLENDALE is third in Southern California building, according to accounts in the news columns of tonight's edition of The Glendale Evening News.

That's splendid. Everyone should aid in making it third for September. It is a matter of progress which the prosperity of the community commends to the builder of either a humble home or palatial business block.

Perhaps a permit for a new hotel will be issued this month; perhaps a theatre or two will get under way and add to the total. Yet we recollect that the largest structure in August, when a new high rank was taken by Glendale, called for an expenditure of about $40,000.

Homes and more homes, modest homes costing from $2000 to $9000, are accountable for the balance of more than $900,000 of new building. That is a mighty good indication, for more homes means more people and more people means more business and more business means more prosperity and more prosperity means more progress and more progress means more homes for more people, etc.

Same as a snowball rolling down-hill, folks.

So, let 'er roll.

To give you an idea of what others are thinking outside of Glendale, let us look through the colored glasses of other commentators for a few minutes. "Seeing America Swiftly" is the subject of the Stockton Independent editorial writer. He says:

"Before the days when we had or had not bananas, there was a song with a refrain which beat into the ears and souls of the multitude: 'Everybody's doing it, doing it, doing it, everybody's doing it now!'

"No longer need anyone advise the prospective traveler to 'See America First.' He is doing it. Everybody's doing it, doing it now. The latest children's game is to see how many different motor licenses they can count in a day. On they come, from Boston to San Francisco, from one Portland to the one on the other ocean, Florida, Ontario, Minnesota—why go further? See list in any blue book.

"There is as much difference in motor tourists as in people in general. Some come in rags, some in tags, and some in velvet gowns. Some campers are neat and competent. Some are sloppy and unpleasant. Some parties go to hotels at all times, some only when it rains, some never.

"One characteristic they all possess. They keep going.

"They may get mixed up afterwards as to where they saw what and had this or that thrilling experience. They see the country only superficially. Assuredly they ought to take more cognizance of their country's beauties.

"But, anyhow, now they go and once they stayed at home. Seeing America swiftly is vastly better than not seeing it at all."

When there is nothing else to talk about, there is something to a discussion of the moot prohibition question which is now giving President Coolidge and the governors of the various states some little concern. The Christian Science Monitor comments on the subject as follows:

"So prohibition in the United States is not accomplishing its purpose? Well, then, what is the explanation of the fact that, for example, in Current History Magazine for September, there are three articles on the liquor question, each of them telling the opposite story? This is what they show: (a) that during the last four years the arrests for drunkenness in America have decreased almost unbelievably; (b) that the reports of the flow of liquor from Canada to America have been greatly exaggerated, and that the production and consumtion of alcoholic beverages, especially spirits, is on the decrease, not only in the United States, but also in the United Kingdom, and (c) that the withdrawals of liquor from warehouses in the United States showed a diminution of more than fifty per cent last year over the preceding one, which itself showed a similar diminution over its predecessor. It really looks as if the 'failure' one hears about in some quarters so insistently should be spelled s-u-c-c-e-s-s."

The Santa Ana Register sounds an optimistic note for Japan when it says:

"Yokohama will be rebuilt, as will Tokio, in which, according to recent dispatches, the damage was not so great as in Yokohama. From the ruins and ashes these cities will rise again.

"The conditions that brought about great cities at these two places exist today. The needs of world trade which caused the development of Yokohama from a fishing village in 1859 to the great city that it was before the catastrophe, will hasten their rebuilding.

"Just as San Francisco was rebuilt upon more substantial lines than had guided its structure before 1906, just so will the Japanese cities develop into greater cities than they have been.

"These things we say looking to the future. The present is a period of darkness and suffering. Warm hearts the world over are reaching out to aid the injured, the hungry and the homeless.

"It is with satisfaction that we have witnessed the response that has been given in America to the call for aid. Through it, we have accomplished things that battleships and airplanes and treaties and conferences could never have accomplished. Sympathy is a wonderful bond.

"And in the building of its cities, Japan will not likely forget the sympathy and the aid that was extended to her stricken people in the hours of darkness and distress."

TUJUNGA

GRAMMAR SCHOOL STUDENTS ENROLL

New System Permits Class To Study Without Any Interruption

Tuesday was "Labor Day" at the Tujunga grammar school with over 300 pupils enrolled to begin the term and with prospects of many more early in the school year.

Principal Axe has adopted a plan for this year whereby unnecessary interruption of classes may be avoided. He will be in his office in the school building on Wednesday evening of each week to meet parents who want to discuss matters in which their children are concerned or which affect the school.

This plan will be followed to eliminate the interruption of classes and taking of teachers away from their work during school hours on matters that can be handled just as well after study hours when school has been dismissed for the day.

Visitors are always welcome during school hours, but interruption of work is not desirable.

Attend Church Supper

Nearly fifty members of the Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community church were present at monthly meeting to enjoy the supper and program. Supper was served by the Ladies Aid Society at 6:30 and was followed by addresses by Dale H. Parke, Los Angeles attorney and Reverend Willie Martin, pastor of the First Methodist church of Hollywood.

Mr. Parke spoke on "Civic Pride" and urged his listeners to take an active part in public affairs. He spoke of the difficulty confronting the average citizen in gaining an intelligent estimate of candidates or issues, stating that in America there is no high class press that presents information on political affairs in a truthful and intelligent manner. He said the press should be subsidized to an extent that would enable it to deal with public affairs more frankly and openly.

Spirit of the Game

Rev. Martin took "The Spirit of the Game" for his subject, saying that life itself is the greatest game and compared it with the rules and spirit governing baseball as an instance, nearby all of which can be applied to every day life with profit.

A solo by Mr. Adams, accompanied by Miss Steger of Hollywood was enjoyed. Ensemble singing completed the program.

Thursday evening of this week the Sunday school will hold a social at the church. Games will be played and refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, punch and pie will be served. Mrs. Joeger has charge of the program.

Missing Family Returns

Albert Grant, Tujunga grocer, who has been reported missing since September 2 with his family and for whom searching parties were sent out in the fear that they had met with an accident in the mountains returned in the midst of the excitement and nonchalantly inquired what it was all about, stating that they had just been on a little camping trip.

"We were just camping out and spent the week on a leisurely jaunt north, stopping the first night at Acton."

"It has turned out to be rather an expensive trip, however. When I got back I found that neighbors and relatives had forced open the store and that it had been kept open to the public several days and I find I am about $300 short in goods. Otherwise we had a nice trip and enjoyed it. These people had no business forcing open the store."

Friends of the family carried out quantities of perishable goods that had spoiled in the refrigerator after the ice had melted. It was the fact that perishable stock had been left that caused them to believe the Grants had not intended a prolonged stay and they reported to the sheriff's office for help.

Will Sell Equipment Salvaged on Contract

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—Sale of several thousand dollars' worth of machinery and equipment found along the east levees of the Sutter By-Pass, where it was left by the contractors after completion of the project, was ordered this week by Captain A. M. Barton, recently named chief engineer of the state reclamation board.

Approximately $100,000 worth of equipment found by the state engineers under similar conditions early this year was sold and the money turned over to the state.

BURBANK

FUND FOR WATER, SEWERS, RECEIVED

City's Progress Assured of Installation of Two Big Projects

Charles B. Fischer, Burbank city treasurer, has received a certified check for $75,000 from the Los Angeles Bonding Company, and the water reservoir and sewer farm are now assured. Of this sum, $50,000 is for the reservoir and $25,000 for the sewer, Mr. Fischer states.

"Greater Burbank, straight ahead" can now be prophesied with a certainty of fulfillment, is the concensus of opinion prevalent in the city, the last obstacle to development having now been removed.

An abundant water system and an efficient sewer system are two of the requisites of a city These Burbank is now to have.

Baptist Union Formed

The first Baptist organization for young folks was created at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night and will be known as the Baptist Young People's Union.

Earl S. Johnson, manager of the American Baptist store in Los Angeles, was present and addressed the gathering of young men and women who formed the union.

At the regular evening service Rev. E. A. Main addressed his congregation on "Eclipse of the Son," a peculiarly timely topic.

Rev. Thomas F. Allen of the Methodist church has secured the services of W. E. Feutz as choir director. Mr. Feutz is a graduate of the music department of the Northwestern university, of Evanston, Ill., and has had years of experience teaching voice He will begin work with the Methodist choir Sunday, September 16.

Club on Good Status

The Sunset Canyon Country club shows a good statement for September 1, with half of the $72,000 of indebtedness as of June 22, wiped out, and preparations being made by Manager Bridges to pay the $7000 of indebtedness coupons due in May.

The bank balance on September 1, amounted to $16,551.79. There are 2200 members who have paid their assessments and are becoming a vital force in regenerating the club, the report shows, "and the time has come," according to Mr. Bridges, "to throw away the hammer and take up the saw, the trowel and the plumb line—and become constructive. Our club has great possibilities. Let's stop tearing down and begin building up!"

Pendroys Present New Fall Styles in Revue

canton crepe. These, too, are made beautifully simple with draped skirts, many of them with plaited panels.

Undoubtedly the most tempting creations were the dinner and evening gowns, all of them wonderfully fashioned from rich, colorful materials.

There was one a bright canary yellow, of heavy silk crepe, part of which was brocaded. Over the right shoulder a graceful drape fell to the floor, suggesting a train. On the left a drape fell from the long waist line to the floor.

Classy Color Combinations

Then there were two lovely lilac gowns. One in heavy silk crepe with irridescent bead design. The other was of lilac-shaded Georgette crepe, made long with rich beading in watermelon pink, gold and periwinkle blue.

Another gown dream was a dull black satin, with gold beading in diamond design over the entire dress.

Perhaps the feature of the evening gowns was a king's blue Georgette, with yellow ochre Georgette drapes falling gracefully to the floor from the long waist line. The gown was beautifully draped and richly embroidered with beads. An added touch were the bead roses, handtinted.

Patrons Pay Compliments

These are but a few of the artistic additions to one's wardrobe that can be found at Pendroy's, where Glendale women have an opportunity to secure the ultra in all lines.

Mrs. Pendroy is being showered with compliments by patrons and friends of the store, who are unanimous in their pleasure at the fall opening.

The window arrangements at the Pendroy store were expertly handled by E. E. Lowry, who secured five new wax models for displaying the fall gowns, making the large display windows of equal attractiveness to anything seen in a metropolis.

Outside of experience man has nothing to gain by his faults.
